

Education Board For Oil Heat in New School, No Contracts Granted

President Schmid Tells Contract Seekers That Board Will Weigh Matter Carefully Before Deciding.

ALL FAVOR OIL

Two Heating Engineers Discuss Problem with Board of Education Members.

After a long discussion as to whether hand-fired coal boilers, boiler fired boilers or oil would prove more advantageous for heating the new central school, the five members of the board in attendance at a special session Thursday evening finally agreed that oil would be the better fuel, even though there might be a slight saving in operation costs if coal were used. This decision came unanimously from the five members present after a session lasting three hours and during which two heating engineers were questioned and the members entered into a general discussion as to the relative costs and merits of the three types of firing.

When the session was convened, President Schmid there were a dozen heating engineers represented, all anxious to ascertain whether their firms were to get the heating contract.

Told of Intention
At the outset President Schmid told the men that the board would not award a contract for heating at the session and the visitors departed when they were informed that the board had no intention of hurrying the letting of a heating contract for the new building until the matter had been thoroughly threshed out. Mr. Schmid told the men he could not tell them the contract would be let but certainly not Thursday night. Literature he said as to types of heating was at hand and would be studied before any action was taken. The board then went to executive session.

Engineers Appear
Two heating engineers were called in and given audiences individually. The members of the board present, Trustees Schmid, Feeney, Walter, Hutton, Cragin and Lane, engaged in a lengthy questioning of the engineers in an effort to determine whether oil or coal would prove best. Figures supplied by coal men were submitted as well as figures from oil men and at the conclusion it was determined that Kingston would better serve the demands by falling in line with the 90 per cent of schools erected in the past few years by installing oil heat.

When Coal is Cheaper
From the figures given by the heating engineers it was ascertained that stokers using small size anthracite coal might be operated cheaper from a fuel standpoint but would require more manpower. Oil would give the least cost for more time for other work and would not require the services of an engineer or fireman except on infrequent visits. The merits of hand fired Corbionde grates and blower system was discussed and the board was told by the engineer that this would be the cheapest type of fuel but would not give the efficiency of oil under the conditions.

Intermittent Heat
Greater efficiency where intermittent heat was needed such as in schools could be derived from oil it was claimed. With coal and stokers it would be necessary to burn some coal nights, week-ends and on holidays to keep the first burning and from this coal used there would be derived no service. With oil when the demand was off the oil burner used no fuel and there was an immediate stoppage of use of fuel which would prove a saving. In the event of a hotel or other building where continuous heat would be required and there would be no periods of shut-down of demand the engineers agreed that coal would prove cheaper.

A local engineer agreed that 150 tons of oil was equal to a ton of coal in schoolhouse use and that in continuous demand service about 172 gallons of oil was equal to a ton of coal. Greater efficiency he said made oil the preferred fuel in 90 per cent of the school jobs of today although some schools were using stokers and were entirely satisfied.

Decision for Oil
After comparison of coal prices and fuel oil prices the board came to the conclusion that the money saving would be slight and the greater efficiency and perhaps better satisfaction oil should be installed and on motion of Trustee Walter the board voted to adopt oil fuel for the building. Mr. Hutton who had been present at the session left at 10:30 to keep an appointment and was not present when the vote was taken, those voting unanimously for oil were Trustees Schmid, Feeney, Walter, Lane, Cragin.

Mayor Raps Culloton's Ability And Cites Specific Examples, Fearon Hits New Deal Policies

Says Constitutional Convention Must Not Be Controlled by New Deal Policies

Mayor C. J. Heiselman delivered a two-sided attack on his Democratic opponent for mayor at the big Republican rally Thursday evening in the municipal auditorium, stating that while the judge's campaign slogan was "Elect Culloton and make Kingston more progressive" the record shows that while the judge was president of the Chamber of Commerce, "it passed out of existence and became a defunct organization, leaving behind it a trail of unpaid bills."

"This," said Mayor Heiselman, "is one of the splendid examples of executive ability of my opponent and also a good insight into his qualities of leadership."

The rally last night was the largest so far held during the present political campaign.

Since the beginning of this campaign I have been telling the voters of the accomplishments of my administration during the past four years. These accomplishments, as you know, consist of improved municipal services, the proper and humane discharge of our responsibility to the unemployed, and at the same time reducing the tax rate and safeguarding the financial structure of our city. These matters are all public record and known by all.

What has my opponent to date placed before the electorate as reasons why the people of this city should turn my administration out of office and substitute his? To date I have been unable to find any sound or constructive idea advanced by him—nothing but harping, destructive criticism. His slogan is to elect him and "Make Kingston a More Progressive City." Let's see whether the record shows that he is qualified by ability and leadership to make Kingston a more progressive city. Running and operating the government of the City of Kingston is a big business, involving knowledge of business principles and requiring executive ability. The city budget is more than a million dollars a year and with its various ramifications and transfers this amount runs up to about two million dollars. This job requires full-time devotion to the city's business.

In determining whether my opponent is such a person, the voters of the city have a right to look at his record and his background. What has he ever done that would lead the voters to believe that he is qualified for this important office?

I have made an investigation of my own, and the following are some of the facts I have been able to discover.

And It Passed Out
In the year 1931 he was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce. Everyone knows the duties of the president of an organization. As such, he should shape the policies of his organization, direct its activities, coordinate its functions and give it force and leadership.

Alice Chamber of Commerce should be a distinct asset to a community. It is a matter of record that under the leadership of my opponent, as president of the Chamber of Commerce, it passed out of existence, and became a defunct organization, leaving behind it a trail of unpaid bills. This is one splendid example of the executive ability of my opponent and a good insight into his qualities of leadership.

His slogan is, as I have told you before, "Elect Me and Make Kingston More Progressive." Is this a good example of how he would do it? It is for you to decide. Let's go back to the record again.

"Electric Eye" Draws Newburgh Comment

The Newburgh News in an editorial finds this to say of Kingston's new intermediate school:

"Electric Eye" in School
An innovation in Kingston's new grade school building is to be an "electric eye" which will automatically turn on illumination when light from the outside is not sufficient. Proper lighting in school has never been given so much attention as it is being given today. This is also true of ventilation.

WPA Program to Continue in City Despite Rumors

Last minute political propaganda circulated in the city to the effect that if Heiselman is elected mayor the WPA program will cease to function is just another of those "political lies" that are spread in an effort to obtain votes for the Democratic candidates. It was announced at the mayor's office this morning.

That there is absolutely no foundation for the stories being circulated is shown by the fact that at the recent meeting of the Board of Public Works the board approved a program of WPA projects sufficient in number to keep over 600 men at work not only during the winter, but for the 12 months of next year.

Mayor Heiselman has repeatedly stated that it is the program of his administration to give the city worthwhile projects of which the men employed on them can be proud and of the city receive substantial improvements for its share of the WPA program.

$270,000 in Bonds Are Sold by City To New York Firm

City Treasurer C. Ray Everett this afternoon sold at public sale $270,000 in school bonds and $25,000 in debt equalization bonds. The school bond issue was to be used for defraying the cost of the new school, now being erected, the site for the new stadium and the land on which the new school is to be erected as part of the long range program of the board of education.

The school bonds were sold to Lazard Freres & Co., Inc., New York city, whose bid was $270,000 for school bonds with a premium $402.30 and interest rate 1.80 per cent.

The debt equalization bonds were sold to the same company, whose bid was $25,000.00 at interest rate of 1.80. The premium was $7.25.

There were 16 bidders from New York city.

Several Threats, Then Bomb
Hollywood, Oct. 29 (AP)—A bomb exploded early today under the home of Clifford E. Clinton, vice crusader and county grand juror, but did not injure him or eight members of his household. One corner of the building was torn out and the kitchen damaged. "There is no question this is a reprisal for my efforts in attempting to get rid of gambling and vice in Los Angeles county," Clinton said. "I have received several threats."

Mayor Scores Judge As Head of Chamber of Commerce, Democratic Leader

"If the New Deal Democrats control the coming Constitutional Convention," said Senator George R. Fearon, former Republican leader of the state senate, in his address at the big Republican rally Thursday night in the auditorium "you are going to have the same contempt for American institutions, the same disregard for our courts, the same centralization of authority, the same greed for power, the same disregard for individual and minority rights that we have had at Washington. Senator Fearon is one of the 15 Republican candidates for delegate-at-large to the convention. Senator Walton, of this city, is also one of the 15 delegates.

"Every political campaign the Democrats make a great clamor and hurl unfounded charges," said Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, "expecting that the public can be fooled when they should know better." Assemblyman Conway described briefly his fight to obtain better living conditions for labor and what he and the other Republican assemblymen at Albany had done not only for labor and agriculture but for every resident of the state.

The rally was the largest held this fall. County Chairman Philip Elting presided, and the principal speakers of the evening were Senator Fearon, Assemblyman Conway, Mayor Heiselman, and Lewis K. Rockefeller, candidate for Congress.

Senator Fearon Speaks

George R. Fearon, former state senator and Republican leader of the state Senate, said:

"This is one of the very few congressional districts in the country that will elect a member of Congress at this fall's election. The returns on election night from this county and the neighboring counties comprising the 27th congressional district of New York will be scrutinized with great interest all over the country as a straw which will show which way the political wind is blowing following the hurricane of last fall. It is a very important year election, having more than local significance, and I trust the voters of Ulster, Sullivan, Greene, Schoharie and Columbia counties will not lose sight of that fact.

"I recall very distinctly and with a great deal of pleasure speaking from this very same platform at the invitation of your grand old county chairman, Phil Elting, just about a year ago. In the speech that I made that night, I stressed the importance of constitutional issues in the fall campaign. I quoted statements attributed to various New Dealers at Washington showing their contempt for the Constitution of the United States. I recalled that one of these visionaries had said that the Constitution should be wrapped in cellophane and laid away on a shelf and I refreshed your memories in regard to President Roosevelt's actions.

Tax Rates Speak Louder Than All the Promises

Under Mayor Heiselman, Kingston's tax rates are the lowest in 10 years.

It required good, sound business management and constant attention to business to keep taxes low when enormous sums were spent for various kinds of welfare and relief, almost unheard of 10 years ago.

Home relief, old age pensions, hospitalization, care of dependent children and initiating and sponsoring work program, both by the city and in cooperation with the Federal government, are some of the social services which Kingston has provided and must continue to provide.

Municipal services have been expanded and improved. Relief and welfare costs have increased. But your tax bills, instead of being higher, have been lower.

With all bills paid, Mayor Heiselman's administration has finished each year with a surplus, while many other governmental agencies went deep into the red.

Study these tax rates for the past ten years:

1937	$37.96	Heiselman Administration
1936	35.48	Heiselman Administration
1935	37.38	Heiselman Administration
1934	41.28
1933	38.60
1932	56.16
1931	40.00
1930	41.24
1929	38.64
1928	40.60

Tax rates speak louder than mere words.

Do you approve of the tax-rates of Mayor Heiselman's Administration?

If so, you will have an opportunity to say "Yes" on Election Day.

50 Milk Cans Dumped In Nearby Counties as Milk War Flares Anew

Franklin, Schoharie and Delaware Counties Scenes of Violence as Strikers and Non-Strikers Fight.

30 PICKETS

Dump Load of 32 Cans of Luke Rider at Richmondville, Schoharie County.

Ulster, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Violence flared over a widely scattered area in upstate New York's milk strike today as strike advocates and non-strikers fought over the delivery of milk to several dairies.

Nearly 50 cans of milk were dumped in Franklin, Schoharie and Delaware counties and strike pickets resorted to highway blockades to halt deliveries.

At Mohr, in Franklin county, Will Robideau reported to the sheriff's office that pickets waited until deputies left the vicinity of a milk plant before stopping his truck.

At Richmondville, in Schoharie county, Luke Rider reported approximately 30 pickets dumped a load of 32 cans after he detoured off the highway to avoid a barricade. Deputies dispersed the pickets.

A fist fight between strike sympathizers and non-strikers developed near the Hogman Farms plant at Kortright in Delaware county, the sheriff's office reported.

At Woods Corners in Chenango county a half dozen pickets stopped a truck driven by Arthur Peelson for the Hadlock Dairy at Springdale and dumped nine cans of milk.

The Chenango county sheriff's office also reported that 30 cans of milk were dumped on the Guilford-Mt. Upton road near Norwich late yesterday when pickets stopped a truck driven by Louis Loeffer.

District Attorney Daniel J. O'Mara said he has summoned a squad of 50 cameramen to take pictures of persons suspected of illegal voting as a part of a campaign against illegal voters.

O'Mara said the cameramen would be sworn in as "watchers" to provide "air-tight" identification of suspects.

London Group Facing Old and New Problems In Search for Accord

Milton Resident Says Father Divine Visited Property

Interviewing a resident of Milton in regard to the village rumor that Father Divine's followers were to take over the Elverhøj Colony on the Hudson river, it was learned that this substantial citizen of the village had been at the Elverhøj property recently when Father Divine and three carloads of persons arrived. The resident of the village told a Freeman reporter that one of the cars contained colored people and that Father Divine personally was on the grounds and inspected the premises.

This was just previous to the transfer of the premises by Mr. and Mrs. Heckman to Marcella Rodwell, of Worcester, Mass. "Father Divine was at the Elverhøj premises last week. I stood as close to him as I am standing to you and he had several followers with him at the time. There were three carloads of them," said the Milton resident. He said he believed that perhaps the transfer now made may not be to a follower of the Divine cult but he predicted that this might be the next step as was the case in the Greenlark Park transfer several months ago. "I don't know who the new owners are," he replied in answer to a query as to whether the new owners might be Divine followers. "This will come out in an action which has been started in the Supreme Court," he concluded.

Lloyd George's Charge

Lloyd George charged that "Mussolini is pouring troops into Libya, interfering in Palestine, fortifying positions in the Red Sea, putting air and submarine bases in the Balearics and Canary Islands and placing German guns in the Straits of Gibraltar."

Sir Roger argued that smoke screens could mask any guns threatening Gibraltar and thus permit British shipping to pass. "That satisfies me," Lloyd George snapped. "I ask the supporters of the government if that is their idea of our position in a great war—dependent on smoke screens."

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,932,938,928.79; expenditures, $2,435,482,011.44, including $679,377,559.81 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $512,542,072.74; gross debt, $28,358,210,723.45, an increase of $2,759,561.45 over the previous day; gold assets, $12,861,000,988.45, including $1,259,339,973.53 of inactive gold.

Posthumous Awards

Rome, Oct. 29 (AP)—An impressive military display Premier Mussolini awarded medals for valor posthumously today to 83 Italians killed in the Spanish conflict. Tablets bearing the names of the fallen were unveiled throughout the nation.

London, Oct. 29 (AP) Two other major problems—an old one and a new one—came to the forefront today as the weary non-intervention sub-committee tried once more to reach an agreement on the withdrawal of foreign troops from Spain.

Of no direct connection with the Spanish Civil War but, like it, tangled in the maze of European affairs were:

Germany's often voiced demand for return of her old colonies now backed by the powerful voice of Premier Mussolini of Italy, and increasing indications that European powers were hoping for some form of leadership from the United States in the nine-power pact talks on the Chinese Japanese war to start next Wednesday in Brussels.

The Spanish neutrality group was summoned for an afternoon meeting with brighter prospects of reaching some form of agreement—or at least avoiding collapse of non-intervention system.

Light of the sub-committee members were prepared to go ahead without Soviet Russia if Moscow persisted in her stand against granting of belligerent rights to the warring sides in Spain until the "bulk" of foreign soldiers had been evacuated.

British laborites and liberals who had been virtually without voice in the neutrality deliberations applauded a bitter attack on his majesty's government's policy on Spain by David Lloyd George, World War prime minister.

The 74-year-old opposition Liberal was in fine fettle in his spirited debate last night in Commons with Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, retired.

Should Father Divine acquire control of the property, he will probably make a "super-heaven" of the estate which contains considerable acreage, although the better portion of the tillable land has been sold off. With a river dock at which deep draft steamers might land, the property is one that the Harlem negro must desire for his pilgrimages up the river. Twice he has come to town with his clan aboard steamers for visits to local "heavens" and acquisition of the Milton property would give him direct access to his own property from the river. This is one of the reasons Milton people he was extremely interested in the property when he paid his recent visit.

Britain and Germany

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty during the World War, said the return of German colonies—lost at the close of that conflict—was "a matter which concerns the British and German governments and no other governments in the world."

Churchill, Conservative veteran of Parliament, said the Italian conquest of Ethiopia gave no reason on which the Italian dictator is entitled to address Great Britain on the colonial problem.

Terror Strikes Residents of International Settlement as Japanese Drive upon Hung-jao, Adjoining Suburb.

60,000 REFUGEES

Flood of Humanity into International Settlement Taxes Capacity Today.

Shanghai, Oct. 29 (AP)—Three British Ulster riflemen were killed and several wounded tonight during Japanese shelling of Hungjiao, suburb to the west of the International Settlement and home of many Americans and other foreigners. British military headquarters announced.

Artillery shelling and aerial attack in the Chinese-Japanese war spread damage among American mission and other foreign property, and during the day British defense lines along the settlement frequently have been under fire.

One unidentified foreigner and several Chinese also were reported killed by Japanese shells falling inside the British lines.

Many Americans and other foreigners abandoned their magnificent homes in Hungjiao to seek safety within the settlement, as the battle for possession of Shanghai centered in the suburban area.

Variety of Upsets

Throughout the day shells exploded near posts manned by the Royal Ulster Riflemen. Japanese artillery, bombarding Chinese in the Hungjiao area, dropped eight shells into Joesfield Park alone, one of the shells damaged St. John's University.

Many windows in buildings and homes in the western district, especially along Yu Yuen road, were shattered. Trolley car wires in the Joesfield sector were broken, disrupting all service.

A British policeman's motorcycle was wrecked a few seconds after he stepped from it. Major General A. P. D. Triffitt-Spence, in command of the British forces, went quickly to the scene. Then he called on Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, Japanese naval commander in the Shanghai sector.

Patients Removed

The Seventh Day Adventist Sanitarium evacuated its patients and equipment after several bullets struck the hospital when a Japanese flyer shot at a group of Chinese soldiers and refugees at the hospital gates.

Meanwhile in Sungkiang, several miles to the west of Shanghai, the American Southern Methodist Susan B. Wilson School for Girls was set afire and almost destroyed. An American home was demolished, the Southern Methodist mission compound was damaged and its 60 occupants sought refuge in dugouts during bombardment by 29 Japanese planes.

British army authorities blocked Szechow creek with junks and cargo boats to forestall Japanese naval attacks on the Chinese "lost battalion" beleaguered opposite the International Settlement.

British Tommy's rifles at their shoulders, paced cobblestones along the creek while two Japanese launches withdrew. The launches had been halted when they steamed up the stream from the Whangpoo river toward the warehouse, opposite United States Marine Corps lines, where the lone Chinese detachment has held off attackers since Chinese evacuation of Chapei two days ago.

Battery Ready to Fire

Japanese troops moved a battery of 75 millimeter guns to within 400 yards west of the building. Military observers thought the guns soon would start shelling.

Fluttering over the Joint Savings Society's flag which was a huge Chinese flag which the Chinese Chamber of Commerce sent to the battalion last night. It dwarfed Japanese rising sun banners flying throughout Chapei.

Thousands of Chinese and foreigners south of the creek posted each other for positions on rooftops to watch the stand of the "Lost Battalion."

When the Japanese naval launches first steamed up the creek, Chinese fled in panic. Japanese officers argued for more than two hours with Colonel D. M. Barchard of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, but he refused to let the launches pass. They then returned to their base and the Chinese came back to watch the warehouse battle.

Japanese had said crews of the launches wanted to fight fires on the Chapei side of the creek, but British declared their real intention apparently was to attack the Chinese band.

60,000 Refugees

More than 60,000 refugees arriving the last two days taxed the capacity of the settlement. The gates were ordered closed temporarily.

Driveway Use Is Subject of Action

Supreme Court Justice Schirick today granted a temporary injunction to William Ewigkeit in an action brought by him against Samuel H. Berger to restrain the alleged unlawful interference by Mr. Berger of the use of the Eaton Court and other driveways used by William Ewigkeit for the purpose of ingress and egress to and from Maple avenue in the village of Ellenville. An action was commenced against Mr. Berger for a permanent injunction and in that action a motion has been made for a temporary injunction pending the trial and which motion is to be heard before Justice Schirick at the Special Term on November 5. The present temporary injunction prevents any interference with the use of said driveway by Mr. Berger until the hearing of the motion on November 5. The plaintiffs claim that the defendant Berger had prevented and continues to prevent them from driving over the driveway upon their property and to their garage and land located at the end of Eaton Court.

UP TO THE VOTERS.

Next Tuesday the voters of Kingston will be called upon to select the administration heads of the city government for the ensuing two years. Mayor Holsman throughout the entire campaign has pointed to his record in the same business manner that he has conducted the affairs of the city. Voters have grown accustomed to weigh the claims and promises made by the various candidates seeking public office.
 They know what has been accomplished under the Holsman administration and they are satisfied to continue the present administration. They have seen Kingston grow in importance and they realize that a continuance of republican administration means a continuance in the growth and importance of our city.

Those are the reasons why Conrad J. Holsman will be elected mayor of this city next Tuesday.
 Mayor Holsman's record is an open book. He has made good in the past and he will make good in the future. Test of future performance is past deeds. His election means much to the taxpayers and rent-payers, and the continued progress of Kingston.

As its candidate for alderman-at-large the Republican Party has again selected John J. Schwenk, who has presided over the Common Council with credit to the city. He has the qualifications to fill that important office.

A vote for Holsman and Schwenk means a vote for the continuance of efficiency in local government. These men to do his job need the wholehearted support of a Republican Community and so the election of Republican candidates is urged.
 Kingston needs capable men at the head of its government to give it the best interests. To sure this, no mistake will be made by voting the straight Republican ticket.

CONVENTION DELEGATES.

The Constitutional Convention which assembles in Albany next spring will have within its power the re-writing of the fundamental law of the state and voters should give serious thought to the type of men who are running as delegates-at-large and delegates.
 Especially is it true of the delegates-at-large for in this group will rest the balance of power.

Ulster county has been singularly honored by having one of its native sons named as a candidate on the Republican ticket for delegate-at-large. The nominee is former Senator Charles W.
 Walton of this city.

Mr. Walton was born in the Town of Hurley and has lived and practiced law here for 30 years.
 For eight years he represented this district in the New York State Senate and during that time was a member and chairman of several important committees, whose work consisted in drafting and re-drafting several important parts of the law of the state. His work in the several courts of this district as well as Federal Courts has given him an insight into the needs and requirements of the people.

This large and comprehensive background gives Senator Walton an undoubted fitness for the position of delegate-at-large to the convention.

Philip Elling is the Republican candidate for district delegate.
 His interest and knowledge of local affairs as well as state affairs is known the length and breadth of the state. He has always stood for economy and efficiency in local government and above all he is a firm believer in the individuality of the county. This cannot be stressed too much for the destinies of Ulster county are linked with all other upstate counties and we do have a community of interest in the desire to retain that individuality.

To vote for Republican candidates where machines are used it will be only necessary to pull lever 1 B down over the words,
 "15 Delegates-at-Large" and leave it down and for the district delegates pull the lever down over their names and leave it down.
 Where paper ballots are used the candidates for delegates-at-large will be on a separate ballot. Be sure and get your ballot and mark X in the circle over the names under the Eagle.

SCHOOL BOOKS

"No books that are any good appear in the elementary or high school curriculum," says Dr.
 Robert Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago. This is a very sweeping statement. Probably there is a good deal of trash inflicted upon the boys and girls in public schools, but it can't all be bad. Dr. Hutchins himself is known as a genius, and an extreme highbrow in his mental processes and literary preferences.
 A list of books that he gave a while ago as a prescription to make educated men and women couldn't be understood by more than one out of 10,000.

Still, our young people could probably absorb more mature books. In study and general reading, than they are ordinarily expected to in this country. Critics have often told us that boys and girls in Europe do more mature work than ours of the same age.

By MARGARET GUION HERZOG

The Characters
 Nina has married David, trying to escape her intense love for her stepfather.

Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, tried to prevent her marriage.
 Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is wild about Richard, her recently acquired husband.
 David, a bright young auto salesman who adores Nina, strives to make her happy on his small salary.

Chapter 23

Dinner at Gracie's
 "I HOPE they like me," Nina said rather timidly, for her, and backed away from his enfolding rumpling arms, in the nick of time.

The very first thing she noticed, when Jack Knight opened the door, was that the two girls behind him were in evening dress.

The tall one, in black, had all the earmarks of a model . . . so chic and svelt was she . . . and the shorter one, in flesh-colored crepe, must certainly be Gracie, from David's description of her.

Nina felt like a sophomore from Peoria, in her simple, little Hattie Carnegie creation. And she had tried to be so thoughtful.

"Hi, there, David! and Nina . . .
 hello! Gosh, I'm glad to meet you!"
 The shorter one, who was Gracie, came forward with a wide smile.

Nina relaxed a little. It was going to be easy.

Gracie took her arm and whisked her off to the bedroom . . . a tiny apartment, very tasteful and lacy.
 The bed was piled high with big dolls and little cushions.

Every chair had either a white fur cat, or a black fur scottie; and the dressing-table mirror was jammed with cards, clippings and snapshots.

It looked like the kind of room you see in the movies, where two pretty girls in black undies, plump themselves down on the bed, and "tell all."

From the moment she went in,
 Nina had the feeling they could have a lot of fun together.

Gracie was undeniably attractive, in a dark, peppy sort of way.
 She had hard, bright eyes, and a comical little nose, and curves that could not fail to be pleasing to the masculine eye.

Her flesh-colored evening-gown was not calculated to conceal them
 . . . but it was smart and perfectly all right.

Nina might have chosen it, herself, if it had been her tie. It had cost $15.00, she found out later.
 Gracie stared at her, as she fixed her hair.

"You don't mind if I stare, do you, Nina? I've been so darn' curious about you. You know when David told us about going around with a new-twist, I knew you must be good . . . The boy's got eyes in his head . . . But I had no idea you'd be this good!"

"Hey, hold on! You'd better wait till you know me better, Gracie!"
 "Oh, well, get along, I'm not worried about that. David's a great kid, isn't he, Nina? . . . Crazy about him?"

"Umhm. You bet I am!"
 "Come on in, you look great.
 Jack's an awful ass, but you'll like him, and Frannie and Frannie are swell, too."

"She models for a wholesale house, and they're 'that way' about each other, like you and David."
 Nina felt sure she and Gracie were going to get on.

Jack, The Schoolboy
 "GOSH! The victuals . . ." Gracie shoved her into the living-room and disappeared.

Her living-room didn't have as much definite character as her bedroom.

There was a red lacquer secretary, and a black velvet hanging on the wall, with a statue and a mountain painted on it, and the most ingenious collection of cigarette boxes and ash-trays, that Nina had ever seen. The rest of the room was nondescript. Sinky chairs, chintz curtains . . . just a cosy, comfortable room.

The windows looked out over the Hudson river, and that was the best thing of all.

The model Frannie was languidly beautiful, and beautifully languid. Bill was just a nice young man; and Jack Knight . . . well, a knew that she was going to like him, too.

He was probably about 23, but remained . . . and would remain, the perennial schoolboy.

His thin blond hair receded in two great tufts from his pink forehead. It came away down in a little pointed peninsula, in the middle.
 He was very thin, but for some reason, his neck and joints were plump—extremely.

He wore a watch fob with strange gold insignia dangling from it, and a large seal ring.
 The cut of his suit, and the selection of his shirt and tie indicated that he might fancy himself a bit of a playboy . . . but he wasn't. He was a schoolboy.

He was utterly natural, and in love with life.
 "How about a little panther sweat?" he suggested, after the introductions had been made; and the party was on.

The biggest surprise of the evening, was Gracie's perfectly delicious dinner . . . cooked and served by her own hand, from a kitchenette that made Nina's look like a ballroom.

They all huddled into an alcove, and Gracie meandered back and forth with one scrumptious dish after another . . . unhurried, at ease, keeping up a running fire of conversation all the while.
 Nina marvelled at her.
 "How do you do it, Gracie?"
 "Oh, it's nothing, my dear, nothing. Just a little something I whipped up out of left-overs. No trouble at all . . . I've only been preparing this little snack for the last two weeks!"
 She was wonderful.
 "You know, Mrs. Day," began Jack.
 "Why Mrs. Day?" Have you any objection to Nina?"
 "Not a one in the world! You know, you deserve to be congratulated . . . no, I'm not going to say anything nice about that mug of a husband of yours . . . I was going to congratulate you, because you're the first person who hasn't made some crack about 'Day and Knight' . . . Night and Day, get it?"
 "Well, I had a narrow escape. It occurred to me . . ."
 "Nina," put in Frannie, "would never think of being so—obvious."
 "It was pure luck," said Nina modestly.

Francine's Broad A

FRANCINE had a slight tendency, at first, to be social.
 "I saw young Willie so and so,
 the other night, at the Paradise.
 Amusing place to go, about once a winter, isn't it?"

But Gracie wouldn't let her get away with it.
 "What are you trying to do, pal-sie? Impress Nina? . . . You live at the Paradise, you know you do!
 Put your broad A back in moth balls, kid."

David smiled at Nina. His eyes said: "told you she was great, didn't I?"

Nina smiled back at him.
 Gracie went on.
 "You should have seen us, Nina, reading all about you in the papers. The former Nina Stafford as the eye-compelling Ice Maiden, in such and such a pageant. . . . Were we impressed? . . . How do you like cleaning David's razor, and putting the top back on the toothpaste, after him?"

"The boy," said Nina, "is neatness personified, and we have two tubes of toothpaste, I'll have you know!"

"What swank! . . . and I thought you were one of us!"
 David said: "Nina is a wonder.
 Nothing about housekeeping fazes
 her. When she ran out of butter, one Sunday, she fried my eggs in cold cream. That's initiative for you."

When dinner was over, Gracie whisked up a screen, and the matter of dishes was not referred to.
 Nina's heart ached for her.

"Didn't you let me—help, Gracie?"
 But her hostess told her: "When you've been poor a little longer, darling, you'll learn to treat dishes with a beautiful disregard. Right now, they're probably the biggest thing in your life. But you'll get over it."

They played red dog, for penny chips.
 Gracie said: "You've gotta get used to it, Nina . . . your Monte Carlo days are over, baby!" . . . If anything, Gracie rather harped on the subject of Nina's being poor now.

She sat by David, opposite Nina, and kidded him all very good-naturedly, of course—about her steady losing.

"Here, here bride! Them's pennies you're throwing around!"
 She whispered with David a good deal, and constantly referred to amusing experiences they had had together, in the past.

Nina began to have a vague and then a very definite feeling, that Gracie was not as friendly as she appeared.

Suddenly, her continued talk about Nina's elegant past and her new poorness, took on a different note.

It was as though she was testing David's wife . . . seeing if she could take it.

Nina became self-conscious and then uncomfortable.
 She readjusted all her previous ideas about Miss Nolan, and decided that, beneath her apparent openness, she was clever and shrewd, and could make a plenty mean enemy.

(Copyright, 1937, Margaret Herzog)

David rides to the honnds, tomorrow, with grim determination.

BABSON on BUSINESS

GREAT BRITAIN IS WAKING UP
 Babson Says England Is The Hope Of The World

Exeter, England, Oct. 29.—To get to England from France seems like returning home! In fact, Great Britain seems like home every time that I visit it. Thirty years ago I first came to England. Then America was progressive; while England seemed to be drowsy. We used typewriters; while the English used quill pens. We wore sensible clothes; while the English wore silk hats and Prince Albert coats to business. Elevators, central heating, and private bath-rooms were then practically unknown in England except in the most exclusive hotels.

Today all this has changed.
 England has adopted all our worthwhile customs—except good coffee! (Some American will make a fortune going to England and selling good hot coffee.)

While we have been growing softer and weaker since the World War, the British Isles have been growing brighter and stronger.
 While we are increasing costs;
 England is lowering them. While we are losing foreign trade; England is gaining it. All this progress, moreover, has been against great odds.

Labor Unions In England English labor leaders consist of two distinctly different groups.
 Many are "Intellectuals" who look at the problem from a theoretical standpoint; others are very practical, being the product of the railways, the mines, or the mills. When I first visited England, labor was fighting for recognition. It was organizing and striking. Feeling ran very high.
 Later there developed a strong Labor Party.

After the World War, this party entered politics and secured control of the government. England was given a "New Deal." The Labor Party, however, soon learned that in running a nation there are other factors to consider besides wages and hours. Increased wages and shorter hours sent up costs so much that England could not compete in world markets. This resulted in unemployment.

Strange as it may seem to Americans, the Labor Party recognized it had "bitten off more than it could chew." A Coalition Government then came into power. To some extent, this Coalition Government still rules England. The following, however, should be attributed to Americans.

After English wage workers became thoroughly organized and collective bargaining was un-versally granted, labor troubles ceased for the most part. The outcome has been much the same as in the case of the fight for woman's suffrage.

Women who "turned heaven and earth" to get the vote, now do not bother to cross the street to exercise this vote. Ever since I was Assistant to the Secretary of Labor at Washington, I have felt that "collective bargaining" is both fair and inevitable in the United States. Furthermore, after it becomes general, United States labor unions will be made to incorporate and will be held responsible as in England. There are very few labor troubles in Great Britain today.

Mussolini and Hitler
 England owes much to Mussolini and Hitler. Twenty years ago the English were a self-satisfied and inefficient people—except in foreign trade and on the seas.
 After the war, England was in a broken-down condition. But the War did much for her spiritually and intellectually. Ever since England woke up and has since been very active. The war may have been a blessing in disguise.

Grand Rally at Woodstock Woodstock, Oct. 29.—A non-partisan grand rally will be held at the Odd Fellows' Hall in Bear-ville on Monday, November 1, at 8 p. m. The Woodstock Citizens' Union is sponsoring this rally at which candidates for public office in Woodstock will present their platforms. The general public is invited. The Citizens' Union has issued a monthly bulletin which outlines the duties of town officers to be elected here on November 2.

Gold production in Australia increased by more than $8,000, 000 for the year ended June 30 compared with that of the previous year.

Kingston in 1936 Built Most Homes In Last Six Years

Kingston, in number of persons provided with new housing last year, ranked twelfth in New York, according to results of a nationwide study made by Investors Syndicate, of Minneapolis. Residential construction in Kingston, from 1931 to 1936, inclusive, ranked fifteenth in the state in the number of people furnished with new housing, according to C. J. Ryan, vice president of Investors Syndicate.

Mr. Ryan pointed out that Kingston in 1936 erected the largest amount of new housing in any one year since 1931. This city last year provided new housing for twice as many people as were provided in 1935.

Kingston, in the value of new home construction in 1936, ranked thirteenth in New York. In cost per person of new housing in 1936 it ranked sixteenth in the state. These figures are based on a housing survey by Mr. Ryan's company of 310 cities, situated in forty-one states and the District of Columbia.

Residences put up in Kingston during 1936, Mr. Ryan explained, "provided shelter for 148 people, or 105.6 per cent more than in 1935. In Kingston, between 1931 and 1936, inclusive, new homes provided for 712 people.

"One of the interesting features of this housing survey," said Mr. Ryan, "was the relation of cost of new housing per person. Kingston had a per capita new housing cost of $1,148.90, while the national average per person cost was $1,015.30. Last year's per capita new housing cost was 23.7 per cent less than that of 1935."

Value of residential construction in Kingston in 1936 aggregated $170,038. In the six years ended with 1936, Kingston's new homes had a total value of $822,538. The 1936 valuation showed an increase of $61,638, or 66.9 per cent that of 1935. Last year's new home values recorded a decrease of $47,762, or 21.9 per cent from the $217,800 total in 1930.

"After reaching a low level in per capita new housing costs in 1933 at $1,054.92," Mr. Ryan continued, "costs rose until 1936, when they hit $1,148.90. In 1936 such costs were 13.5 per cent lower than in 1930, which home builders throughout the nation class as a 'normal' building year."

When America takes its voluntary unemployment census it will be borrowing a page from the British. British unemployed register every week at one of the some 2,000 government offices. The weekly registration keeps the government posted and guides employment offices.

Color-Scheme Planting With Tulips

Three Tulip Types: Single Early, Cottage and Darwin.

No flower is more suited to color-scheme planting than the tulip. You can count with assurance on the height of each flower, as well as on its time of blooming and location. One bulb will usually produce one flower, although there are some varieties which occasionally branch and bear more than one blossom.

While there is a tendency toward a return to formal beds of tulips, especially among those who wish a modern note in their gardens, most garden owners will probably prefer informal groups planted in contrasting colors.

The worst way to plant tulips is to set them in single rows. Instead of being enhanced by this arrangement their beauty suffers. Beds in the modern manner are planted in masses of a single color and are usually in angular shapes.

Where contrasting colors are planted in adjoining groups it is relatively easy to obtain vivid and harmonious effects. The Darwins, a violet-purple is a striking picture in combination with a pink. The pale pink variety, Clara Butt, is set off very well with a pale lavender.

Working out such combinations is half the fun of tulip gardening.

Don't let gladioli, canna or dahlia roots remain over night after digging. The frost will do them no good. Put them under cover to dry.

Plant annuals this fall for early bloom next year. It is also a good time to start the cutting garden.

Tender annuals can be started this fall in a cold frame or protected seedbed. This is also true of the slow germinating perennials.

A dibber is a good tool for bulb planting. Learn the knack of giving it a swinging twist to make the bottom of the hole round so the bulbs will not be "hung" with air space under them. You will get it with a little practice.

A south wall is the best place to plant your snowdrops. Put them near a window, and you will wake up some sunny February morning and find them in bloom.

Spade the tulip beds early and have the soil ready when the bulbs arrive. Bad weather may set in, which will make digging difficult, and you will have to use speed to get the bulbs in.

Rake bulb beds level after they are planted so there will be no depressions to collect water.

Dig two spades' depths down in preparing a bed for lilies which must be planted deep, particularly the stem rooting types.

Narcissus like to grow among the roots of other plants. For this reason they flourish excellently tucked in among perennials in the garden, or at the base of the shrubby border.

Fine Tools for the Garden

Are you a seed catalog fiend? If you are, you probably begin watching for 'em along in December. But it doesn't do much good. Catalogs don't start coming in until about the time of the January thaws—when people begin wondering if the freeze is going to get the peaches. Looking at seed catalogs is the best way anybody knows of making Spring come sooner.

Well, almost the best. There's one small matter that can be done in the Winter time that'll remind you that Spring's on the way—and that's sprucing up the garden tools, seeing they are in good condition.

Maybe you can't get all of them together. Because the rake's frozen fast to the ground, and because that fine new spade—you will probably remember—was loaned to Mr. Smith. It would look awfully funny to ask for it back when he knows very well you couldn't turn a spadeful of earth with anything but an ice pick. And, you'll find that you have an extra trowel that positively is not yours. Whose it is, you have not the slightest idea.

If you'd carefully painted the handles on everything in, say, a nice bright blue with two hands of orange, everyone in the neighborhood—including yourself—would know whose tools they were. Painting handles is the best way in the world to hold onto your own equipment. Then, if Mr. Smith borrows a spade of yours—with your special markings on it—keeps it over a reasonable length of time, he's going to feel a little conscience stricken every time he looks at it.

It's a good idea to paint wheelbarrows too—and for the same reason. Not that you're stingy, but just careful. Another good reason is that the paint forestalls rot in wood and rust on metal—makes both last a lot longer. And the same good washable enamel that you use on the kitchen woodwork and on furniture will be fine.

So, don't wait and wait unhappily for Spring. Get down in the basement and paint the tools and make believe the crocus are up in the bed along the back walk.

Issue Circulars on Nine Insect Pests

Geneva, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Nine major insect pests of fruits, vegetables, and ornamentals are dealt with in circulars just published by State Experiment Station here as part of its series on "Common Insect Pests of New York," the first four of which included publications on apple maggots, Mexican bean beetle, cabbage worms and the striped cucumber beetle.

The new publications deal with the spruce gall aphids, the cabbage root maggot, the codling moth, the pear midge, the asparagus beetle, the peach borer, the Japanese beetle, the European corn borer, and the elm leaf beetle. Any or all of these pamphlets, as well as the earlier numbers of the series are available without cost upon request to the Experiment Station.

Each publication in this series, none of which exceeds four pages in length, has been prepared by some member of the staff of entomologists at the Experiment Station who has made a special study of the life history, habits and control of the particular insect concerned. Each pamphlet is also illustrated with a four-color plate showing the different life stages and the nature of the injury caused by the insect.

In describing control measures, the station specialists have taken into account both the commercial or large-scale grower and the back-yard gardener and have prepared recommendations that will meet the requirements of both types of enterprise where treatment on a small scale might differ from field practice.

These pamphlets are proving exceedingly popular with fruit and vegetable growers and nurserymen and are also finding wide use in schools where nature subjects are under study.

Mayor Raps Culloton's Ability

eratic party have complained that no sample ballots have been provided them by their county chairman, and that they are receiving neither encouragement, help, advice or sympathy from my opponent, whose duty it is as county chairman to supply these services to the candidates of his own organization.

In this another example of my opponent's quality of leadership and executive ability? Do you want that kind of leadership and that kind of executive ability at the head of the city government during these critical times or do you want the type of leadership, executive ability and constant attention which I have endeavored to give you during the past four years? Again I say, it is for you to decide.

This is part of the record of my opponent, based upon his past performance. He will tell you that he has been city judge for the past eight years. I am not a lawyer, but I say to you that no executive ability is required to do one in that position. That has to do entirely with law and as such city judge he did not know anything about the ramifications of running a city government and never took the time to find out.

An Industrial Group. In addition to the duties imposed on me as mayor, I took the occasion to appoint an industrial committee for the city of Kingston. Its membership is composed of public spirited citizens who have worked diligently and unceasingly for the industrial development of the city of Kingston. This would not have been necessary if my opponent kept in existence the Chamber of Commerce which, under his leadership, became delinquent and extinct.

Those Appointed. My opponent has blazoned in the newspapers that if he is elected he will appoint qualified citizens to the municipal boards, which means that my opponent insinuates that those whom I have appointed are not qualified. Let's see whom I have appointed.

All are Qualified

These men and women, in my judgment, are qualified for the positions to which I appointed them. They have my fullest confidence. I have worked with them, and they have worked with me to make my administration the success which I believe it has been. Do you believe, as I do, that they are qualified, competent and capable? I know you will answer that question on election day.

Included in the above appointments are the members of the Board of Education. You have heard my opponent talk about the new intermediate school which my administration is building and for which ground was broken this afternoon. Necessarily when my opponent claims he would appoint capable men, he tells you that the members of the Board of Education are not capable. Dr. Arthur Crain, Alfred Schmid, Bernard A. Feeney, G. D. B. Hasbrouck, G. V. D. Hutton, Charles Katz, M. Donald Lane, Edward H. Remmert, Fred J. Walter.

I want to give you tonight the facts about this school.

Facts About New School. The Board of Education, among its committees, has what is known as a building committee, which has charge of building construction. This committee was appointed last May and soon thereafter a school plan, adequate for our needs, flexible enough to meet future changing conditions and within our financial ability to pay, came into being. That is the committee which brought this school into being—planned it and carried it through to the point where today I was privileged to participate in exercises celebrating breaking of ground for this school. Let's see who for the members of that building committee.

Its chairman is Bernard A. Feeney, and its other two members are Charles Katz and Fred J. Walter. There has been no one more active and more sincere in developing this school than this committee, and particularly its energetic chairman, Bernard A. Feeney. And I am told and believe that Bernard A. Feeney is an enrolled member of the Democratic party. Politics has no place in our school system. Until my opponent started to make his careless and reckless statements, politics were kept out of our schools. As a result of the efforts of that building committee, and the Board of Education, with such cooperation as I could give, we have evolved a plan whereby we are building an intermediate school, seating 840 students, and a vocational training school to teach our children gainful trades and occupations. The board has purchased the land on which the school will be erected, and the site of the fair grounds where the municipal stadium will be built. All of this is being done at a total cost to the taxpayers of $370,000, $100,000 of which was placed in this year's school budget and for which you are paying in your present school tax and we are issuing now only $270,000 in bonds. Those are the facts. When my opponent tells you that it is costing more than that, the records do not bear him out.

My opponent also claims that the intermediate school, which we are building, is not fireproof and is not adequate to meet our needs. Let me call that false statement once and forever.

The plans and specifications for this school had to be and were approved by State Department of Education in Albany. The Board of Education could not build a school that did not meet the requirements of the state department, and do you suppose they would have approved our plans if the school was not adequate for our needs and if it were not fireproof? The answer is obvious. Our school is fireproof and our school is adequate. Because the State Board of Education, when it approved our plans, said so.

My opponent also claims that no application was made for a federal grant. Let's look for the record. Under date of August 25, 1937, a letter was written to the WPA in New York, asking for a PWA grant. What was the reply of Arthur S. Tuttle, State Director of PWA? Here it is:

New York, N. Y. August 26, 1937.

Mr. Alfred Schmid, President, Board of Education, Kingston, New York.

Dr. Mr. Schmid: I have your letter of August 25th in which you request to be advised as to the possibility of securing federal aid in connection with two (2) proposed school projects in Kingston.

In reply, I regret to inform you that under the terms of the new legislation relative to this agency, which became effective on June 29, 1937, the acceptance of new applications is prohibited.

Very truly yours, (Signed) ARTHUR S. TUTTLE, State Director, New York

In addition to this, Alfred Schmid, president of the board of education, and Bernard A. Feeney, chairman of the building committee, about whom I have already spoken tonight, went to

New York and visited the office of Mr. Tuttle, and on that occasion were told that no grant could be made. In addition thereto, I have been informed that my opponent held a meeting in the high school on the evening of October 14, last, with the president of the board of education and members of the building committee relative to the possibilities of obtaining a federal grant. The public press had carried stories to the effect that a federal grant could still be obtained for the construction of the new intermediate school.

Why Not Tell Facts? Has my opponent any reason for not telling the voters of this conversation at that meeting? It is very evident that the encouragement he gave the building committee as to his ability to get a federal grant was not sufficient to hold up the progress of the proposed new school.

These are the glaring examples of the false statements being made to the voters of this city. The record conclusively proves that my opponent did not tell the truth about the efforts of the board of education to get a PWA grant for the new intermediate school.

My opponent claims also that the water board has increased the water rates of householders during my administration. That is not true. The rates were restored but not increased.

The Water Rates. I became mayor in 1934. In 1935 the rates on first faucets were reduced $2. In 1937 the former rate was restored in order to pay for the new million gallon equalizing standpipe which was recently completed. This standpipe was necessary in order to insure proper fire protection by equalizing the water pressure in the city and to bring water to homes at various high points.

During the hot, dry summer of 1936, when during sprinkling hours consumption of water rose to a rate as high as ten and a half million gallons per day, water pressure at the central pressure gauge sank as low as 28 pounds. At my request, Fire Chief Murphy made pressure tests at high points in the city and found some fire hydrants absolutely dry, and others with pressures so low as to be of no value in case of fire. Some citizens could not get water to wash their supper dishes during evening sprinkling hours. Staggered sprinkling was inaugurated. Water pressures on Broadway as low as 28 pounds are dangerous.

At my request, a special meeting of the water board was called, the board's consulting hydraulic engineers were summoned and at their recommendation, and in the interest of the city's safety and service to the consumer, it was decided to erect the million gallon equalizing reservoir, or standpipe, which has since been built. This standpipe raised the water pressure to 55 pounds at the central gauge and keeps it there. This means safety and service to all.

The equalizing standpipe is built and it was paid for in cash. No money was borrowed to do the job. Hence, no bonds and interest will have to be hereafter paid by the taxpayers. The restoration of the rate on first faucets made this possible.

The water rate on the first faucet when I became Mayor in 1934 was $6 per year. The rate is still $6 a year. Check your water bills and determine the facts.

My opponent states "The family with one faucet is paying as much as the family with a dozen." This statement is absolutely false. Under the existing rates of the water board the family with one faucet pays $6 a year. The family with a dozen faucets pays $28 a year.

The truth of the matter is that water rates to householders are lower now than when I became Mayor in 1934, because sprinkling permits have been reduced during this administration from $3 to $2 per annum.

When my opponent claims that cost of water to the householder has been increased during my administration he stands again proved guilty of attempting by false statements to mislead the voters of this city.

If all of his claims and statements are as inaccurate as these, I leave it to the voters of this city to draw their own conclusions.

No Extravagance. In conclusion, may I point out that our administration has tried to give Kingston a government that provided for all the necessary requirements of its various departments, without extravagance in any. We have had in mind constantly the fact that it must so administer city affairs that our people, householders and rent-payers, first of all could live here without back-breaking taxation. We have endeavored to keep industry here and attract new industry. These efforts have borne fruit.

Our opponent, from his attitude during this campaign, would engage in a reckless program of spending, irrespective from whence the funds come. As an illustration, he would spend $850,000 for a new school building, when an expenditure of $370,000 in the judgment of our local Board of Education and the State Department of Education will provide ample educational facilities for our children.

Following this course throughout, our city would be bankrupt before another term is past and like many other cities default its bond and interest obligations and bring to Kingston what Chicago has experienced, which is payless par days for school teachers, policemen, firemen - and other municipal employees.

I have in the course of this campaign attempted to place before you the record of my administration for the past four years. I have endeavored to set forth what I considered the accomplishments and the aims of my administration. For that I have no apology. For that I have the best that was in me. In contrast to that, my opponent has made criticism, but has given you no constructive thoughts or pledges as to what he stands for.

I submit my record to you with the fullest confidence that on Election Day you will go to the polls and ratify that record.

Miss Dunegan Tells Kiwanis of Board Of Public Welfare

The history of public welfare with particular reference to its development in Kingston was the subject brought to the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon, the speaker being Miss Catherine Dunegan, chief investigator of the Department of Public Welfare, which agency is relatively new in this city, being a consolidation of most of the relief and welfare organizations.

Miss Dunegan began her remarks with a brief history of welfare, recalling the alms houses of yesteryears, how all classes of dependents were at first herded in such places together, but how through the years, the mental cases, blind, and other specialized groups were provided for under separate categories. She continued, showing that as the years passed the departments became more numerous and the needs for relief and welfare grew until a maze of departments were established to provide nearly every conceivable kind of care.

On top of this, the speaker explained, came the depression, and the growing need for a more extensive relief, both in the home and provision of jobs, became apparent. Previously the locality had provided the funds for relief and welfare, later the state contributed in special cases, but the depression made the need for funds so great that it was necessary to get outside help. The federal government then stepped into the picture and by setting up agencies and requiring certain standards of ability on the part of investigators and the machinery of the welfare organizations, offered to contribute a certain part of many forms of relief and aid to dependents.

As the acuteness of the depression cleared it became clear, said Miss Dunegan, that relief was going to continue for some time and possibly would be a permanent fixture in the governmental set-up. So the emergency relief organizations were ended and in their places were established a permanent organization.

The experiences of past now offered aid in establishing the new machinery. It was determined that numerous separate categories caused an overlapping and that efficiency suffered. The new organization then sought to solve this problem by combining welfare under one general department, and this is being done in Kingston under the Board of Public Welfare. This city has met the requirements of the state and federal governments with regard to personnel and machinery and hence much of the money paid out by the city in the several kinds of welfare and relief will be in part returned by the state and federal government.

The speaker then went into a detailed account of the operation of the new department, how cases are investigated, how the relief or welfare budget for each individual case is determined, and how operating costs to the taxpayer were kept at a minimum consistent with furnishing the necessities under the provision of the law. She closed her address with typical examples of cases, which come before the board and cited a number of different types of cases such as the borderline case, the floater, the loss of morale in certain types of individuals, the supplementary case, and others, all of which are special problems of the board.

President William Byrne expressed the gratitude of the club for the account of welfare activities in the city by Miss Dunegan and the meeting adjourned. Paul Zucca was in charge of the music and was assisted at the piano by Danny Blitner.

Dental Society Held Meeting

The Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club held its first regular fall meeting on Wednesday evening at McCabe's Restaurant.

Dr. Harold A. Osserman of New York city lectured and gave a practical clinic on his method of sensitizing teeth for cavity preparation by means of a new combination of drugs which he has developed and which he presented to the dental profession at the meeting of the American Dental Association held in Atlantic City in July.

WOODSTOCK. Oct. 29.—Contractor Clark Neher's workmen are busy on the foundation of the new town hall. The contract calls for completion in ten months, so the building should be ready for use by next September.

Dr. James Stewart and Mrs. Stewart have returned from a visit with friends in Narragansett.

Miss Gretchen Smith and her sister, Miss Fritz Smith left on Thursday for New York, where Gretchen will be with Gimbel's kindergarten.

The work of painting the Woodstock library has just been completed by Gus Schrader. It is the first coat of paint the building has had for many years. The fresh whiteness now brings out the original beauty of the colonial building, which is over 150 years old, one of the oldest buildings in Woodstock.

George Neher has left for his annual visit to his citrus groves in Texas. He will vote from there by absentee ballot in the coming election.

Kenneth Wilson is establishing himself and family in the Woodstock Hotel in preparation for the coming season. He will manage the business for the owner, Stanley Longyear.

The program arranged for the second Maverick winter concert in the Reformed Church will be music by Bach, De Bussy, and Beethoven. The first number, Sonata, by Bach, will be played by Robert Rudier, violinist, and Leslie Garrison, pianist. The second number, Sonata, by De Bussy, will be played by George Finckel, cellist, and Rosemary Finckel, pianist. The last selection, Trio in E flat, by Beethoven, will be played by Robert Rudier, George Finckel and Leslie Garrison.

Hebrew Supper. There will be a cafeteria supper held at the Hebrew School, corner Post and Spring streets, Sunday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock, by the mothers' group. All kinds of food will be sold. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Katrine Masquerade. The annual masquerade dance will be held at Lake Katrine Hall tonight. There will be modern and old fashioned dancing.

At The Theatres

Today
Broadway: "The Life of the Party." A group of the humor producing people of stage and screen get together in this mad musical that starts and ends in a brisk, laughable and entertaining fashion. The songs will draw a lot of laughs and the antics of the comedians is for the most part very funny. The cast includes Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Gene Raymond, Harriet Hilliard, Gene Raymond, Joe Penner, Parkyakakus and Ann Miller.

Kingston: "The Bride Wore Red." New and zesty and elaborately produced, Joan Crawford's latest romantic comedy is one of her best efforts in a long time, thanks to a well staged story plus the capable support of Franchot TONE and Robert YOUNG. Here is the laughable and tricky story of a girl who sets her matrimonial net for a millionaire and gets him after much labor and anxiety. The lines are cleverly written, the musical score is unusually effective and Miss Crawford is at her dramatic best in this sophisticated play. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Dorothy Arzner. Others in the cast are Billie Burke and Reginald Owen. Orpheum: "Turn Off the Moon" and "Cherokee Kid." The features at the Orpheum are diversified if somewhat ordinary as the first shows Charles Ruggles and Eleanor Whitney in a comedy number about young love and its troubles while the other tells of the days of the old west with Dick Foran in the starring role.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "Double Wedding." A slapstick hodge-podge of mirth.

romance and gaze comes to the Broadway with William Powell and Myrna Loy together for the first time since their "Thin Man" sequel. It's all about four crazy people with one girl in love with her sister's husband and Mr. Powell steals the show as a happy go lucky artist whose affairs of the heart are both funny and acute. The producers evidently turned over backward in order to make this film a laugh riot and their efforts are obvious to the point of making the show a bit strained. At that, there are moments of rare mirth in this comedy attraction and Mr. Powell holds the old show together with the magic of his talent. The cast includes such lesser players as Florence Rice, John Beal, Edgar Kennedy and Jessie Ralph. Richard Thorpe directed this M-G-M production.

Christian Science Monitor gives this as an example of truthful advertising. Let us hope the owner sold the property.

Advertisement in New York newspaper:

Tumbletown house on hilltop for sale in Litchfield Hills, Connecticut. Two miles from town. No babbling brook. Extensive grounds for pushing lawnmower. Bad golf, fishing, etc. Twelve acres inclosed by horse fence adjoining hunt club. Dump near house. Approximately thirty apple trees. Domestic problems terrible. Price, $25,000.

Merchant—Everything that collects men endures in not necessarily good.

Friend—Why do you take that stand?

Merchant—Because I have a check from one of them.

Marrying in haste is all right if you are marrying the right one, but usually the earlier the wedding the greater the gamble.

Mother-in-law—That's a cute little tree on the front lawn. John—I mean the one that's about a foot high.

Son-in-law—Yes, I just planted it. I hope the next time you come you'll be able to sit in its shade.

Hesitatingly, hardly daring to look, he paused and scanned every inch of the space before him. As far as the eye could see, there was just the same drab barrenness. Nothing. With sinking heart he turned sadly away.

Again and again he had come to search, and had returned dejected. There were days of renewed hope followed by deeper despair, and as the days passed and there was still no sign, no change, he began to lose faith.

Then, at long last, came the incredible, unforgettable morning when they finally appeared—the first two shoots from the four seeds he had planted in his bed-sitting room window box.

Troubles always seem to learn to add and multiply a lot easier than they do to subtract.

A financial note that didn't work.

The young bride had heard her husband speak of borrowing money on notes. So she took to the bank a few of those he wrote her before their marriage.

The cashier read each one with great care and evidently with much pleasure, but the mean thing wouldn't lend her a cent on them.

Jake—How about joining me in a cup of tea, old boy?

Mike—Oke, m'lad. You crawl in first, and then we'll see if there's any room left for me.

Blessed are peacemakers, for it is evident they shall ever be numbered among the unemployed.

One need not be a criminal to catch the force of this:

Daughter (looking up from her novel)—Papa, in time of trial, what do you suppose brings the most comfort to a man?

Papa (who is a newly appointed magistrate)—An acquittal. I should think.

Now for a bit of sound philosophy to help us on our way:

He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to any circumstances.

When we're right we credit our judgment; when we're wrong we curse our luck.

Agitated Lover—Is it true that your father has lost his fortune?

His Lady Love (sighing)—Yes, all is swept away, but you are left, Percy, dearest.

Agitated Lover—Great Jupiter! I should say I am left!

Teacher—Who said, "I come to bury Caesar?"

Nervous Youngster—P-please, teacher, the undertaker.

Lions Club Plans For Christmas

Saugerties, Oct. 28.—The Saugerties Lions Club is planning to hold their annual Christmas party on Monday evening, December 20, as announced by President Joseph Keenan of the club. The club will as in former years provide clothing and shoes to six needy boys of this village. The boys will be the guests of the Lions and enjoy the party arranged for them. The following appointments have been made for this affair: John Cartright, W. H. Overholse, Thomas Wayne and William F. Kelly.

GIRLS' COMMUNITY CLUB MASQUERADE THIS WEEK

Saugerties, Oct. 28.—The Girls' Community Club will hold its annual masquerade ball in the Phoenix Hotel on Partition street this Friday evening. The members are making plans to have this one of the outstanding parties of the year and have engaged Roger Baer and his orchestra to furnish music for the occasion. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed and also for the most comical costumes.

VILLAGE MAYOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION

Saugerties, Oct. 28.—Mayor George L. Kerbert has issued the following proclamation: Whereas, John D. Biggers, federal administrator of the unemployment census, has solicited the assistance and cooperation of the mayor, village trustees, officials and citizens in general of the village of Saugerties, to the end that the census may be fully completed, he hereby proclaimed that during the period of November 24 and 27 when local postal officials will be in distributing unemployment census blanks the citizens of the village of Saugerties cooperate and give undivided support to this federal undertaking and thereby be enabled to obtain an accurate list of those unemployed or partly employed. This proclamation is issued by virtue of authority vested in me as mayor of the village of Saugerties, N. Y. Signed, George L. Kerbert.

Loaded Truck Burns

Saugerties, Oct. 28.—A loaded truck owned by the Van Dusen Motor Express Co. of Theresa, and parked near the Saugerties Grill, was considerably damaged by fire on Tuesday morning when the driver, Howard Stephenson, started the motor to proceed on his way. Before the fire could be extinguished the cab and motor of the truck was destroyed. The driver and a friend were fortunate in escaping and the flames spread rapidly through the cab. An alarm was sent in to the Saugerties fire department and the firemen found it difficult to bring the flames under control quickly, although the chemical extinguished the fire. It is believed that a short circuit was the cause of the fire, which sent up huge clouds of black smoke. The cargo, $1,000 worth of baby cribs, escaped damage. The truck later was towed to the Beers' Garage, where the cargo was transferred to another truck.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

New York—Women marry each other in Dahomey, Africa.

It is just an innocent custom, as explained in the British journal of science, Nature, for giving children to a childless woman. Or to a woman who doesn't have as many as she wants all by herself. The woman who is the "husband" under the custom, admits a male friend to visit the "wife". The children resulting from this practice then belong to the woman who is the "husband". Among these people, the children ordinarily belong to the male who is their father. But in this way wealthy women are able to build up families, economic prestige and power, all under their own control.

MT. TREMPER

Mt. Tremper, Oct. 28—The Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Ingessoll received congratulations from their many friends on Monday, October 25, as it was their 44th wedding anniversary. They celebrated the happy occasion by having a dinner party with friends at the Hotel Stuyvesant at Kingston.

Friends here were shocked to hear of the death of Apples Satterlee of Pine Hill on Monday. Mr. Satterlee, a former resident of this place, has two sisters, who reside here, Mrs. William Hoyt and Miss Mabel Satterlee. Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee were callers here on Sunday evening at the home of their niece, Mrs. Kenneth Warren, and at that time he seemed in the best of health. His funeral will be held at the home on Thursday morning with burial in Mt. Tremper Cemetery. Kenneth Limby is still a patient at the Benedictine Hospital. He will be brought to his home here soon but will have to have a plaster cast on his leg for some time.

Norman Wilber, Jr., went with Grant Lane to the coal mines in Pennsylvania on Monday night. Mrs. Zinegrat is a patient at the Benedictine Hospital for an operation. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Lester Randall is still a patient at the Benedictine Hospital. His friends all hope he will soon be much improved in health. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilber and family were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilber at Woodstock Sunday evening.

Donald Warren of Kingston was a caller here last week.

Cephenomyia Fly Found Fastest Thing in World

A fuzzy fly, the Cephenomyia, is credited with the speed championship of the world by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, director of the American Museum of Natural History, in an article in the museum's magazine, Natural History.

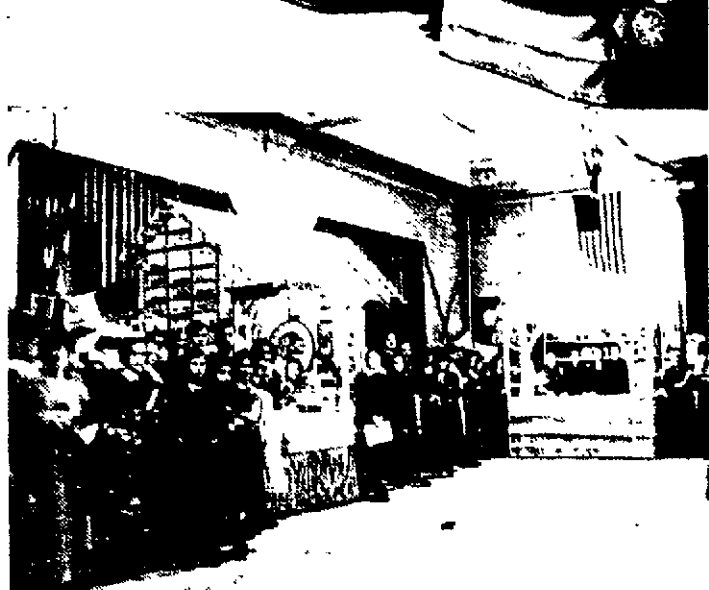

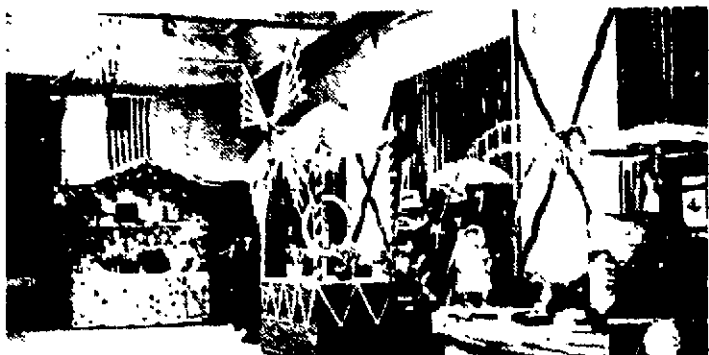

The insect can attain a speed of 813 miles an hour, and travels faster than sound. Sound travels 1,099 feet a second, while the Cephenomyia, says Dr. Andrews, can fly 1,200 feet a second, and therefore can keep ahead of its own buzz. Dr. Andrews admits he has never observed Cephenomyia's flight in a wind tunnel, but says that the estimate of the insect's speed is based on the observations of a scientist who devoted years of study to this fly.

Cephenomyia is a member of the family of hot flies, which lay their eggs under the skin of animals. This particular fly, which is about a half inch long, is found in New Mexico, and lays its eggs under the skin of deer.

"Perhaps we had better not commit ourselves," Dr. Andrews says, "as to whether it is the superior streamline, or the extraordinary wing strength, or merely the knack of knowing how to use their wings that gives some insects their speed. Science has yet to solve this riddle."

St. Peter's Bazaar

Tonight, the parish bazaar closes in St. Peter's School Hall and a record number is expected to attend the event, surpassing the crowds that turned out for it every night since Monday. There are booths of every sort, artistically decorated, as shown above, and plenty of attractions for all.

Senator Fearon's Tribute to Gerber

Senator George F. Fearon of Syracuse, speaking at the Republican rally Thursday evening, paid an unexpected tribute to Mace Gerber, the Republican candidate for alderman of the Sixth Ward. The senator said he knew Mr. Gerber personally and that he had been a friend of his of long standing. Senator Fearon said that it should not be forgotten that Mr. Gerber was fighting for election in a ward where the Democrats outnumbered the Republicans, but that the ward would make no mistake in selecting Mr. Gerber to represent the ward in the common council. Mr. Gerber, who was in the audience, was called to the platform and thanked the senator for the unexpected tribute. Mr. Gerber is secretary to Senator Wicks in Albany.

Rabbi Bloom requested that all members writing plays have their contributions in by Nov. 5. The club is planning a roller skating party in the near future. After a social period, the meeting adjourned.

When hands become red and chapped in cold weather, it is usually careless drying rather than washing that's to blame. Always use a clean, dry towel because a damp one will not absorb the moisture completely. A hand lotion rubbed in after washing helps to keep the skin soft and smooth but it does not take the place of the frequent soap and water scrubbing that hands require as a measure of good grooming and good health.

New York—The "Small Angel" in limestone looks out upon visitors to the Museum of Modern Art with a smug, fat face. Secure in the support of her earth-touching wings, she stands in judgment with her arms behind her.

A child might have carved her out of soap or moist clay, for she is small and pert, squat and firm, a little ridiculous and altogether charming.

A One-Man Show

The "Small Angel" is the work of William Edmonson, a 50-year-old negro from Nashville, Tenn. Although he has never had a sculpture lesson in his life, the Museum of Modern Arts has honored him with a one-man show, goal of all artists. He is a modern primitive, self-taught, and primitives have always been the darlings of the advance-guard intellectuals.

Odd jobs, work as a hospital orderly and as a vegetable gardener occupied Edmonson until he turned to tombstone carving. His front yard is a little graveyard of tombstones, most of them blank, some of them partly lettered for customers who never came back.

His First Angel

"Dis here stone n' all those out there in de yard come from God," he says. "It's de word of Jesus speakin' his mind in my mind."

That is how he explains his

"Small Angel"

sculpture. The only book he has ever read is the Bible; so it is not surprising that the subjects he chooses have a Biblical inspiration—Mary and Martha, angels, the Lamb of God, doves and preachers.

"This is how he came to carve the piece of sculpture called 'Small Angel.' One day his sister said to him: 'William, how come you ain't never made no angel? You done made ever' thing else, how come you ain't made no angel?'"

But his sister only prompted him, Edmonson says. God commanded.

The lunch was enjoyed at the beginning and consisted of sandwiches, pumpkin pie and coffee. After the business Coach School (campbell, of the Normal School faculty, took charge of the entertainment. The first number was a baritone solo, "When the People Bloom Again," sung by Leander Schmid, accompanied by Johnny Rogers; two piano solos provided by MacDowell and his own interpretation of "The Roseary" as not written by Elbert Naving; two trumpet selections, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" by Charlie Helmes, with Prof. Arnold Verduin, accompanist; exhibition of gymnastic tumbling by Lee Schmidt, of the Normal School; a wrestling match by Harold Goodman and Howard Rosa; a talk by Coach C. E. Stevens of Newburgh, who explained the importance of the development and emphasis of physical education; Coach Loren Campbell discussed the new athletic field. Before the close, Abram E. Jensen introduced a friend of long standing, Ira Nipard, of Newburgh, formerly of New Paltz, who was one who helped get the Dutch Arms started. Mr. Nipard was greeted with enthusiasm and responded with encouraging words.

Seekers Class Held Regular Meeting

New Paltz, Oct. 29.—The Seekers' Class and Home Department held their regular monthly business meeting in the Methodist Church parlor Tuesday afternoon, October 26.

The president, Mrs. Morgan K. Coutant, opened the meeting with prayer. In the absence of Mrs. Walter Smith, who was to have led the devotion, Mrs. Harry Gerow took charge of this period which opened with all singing "Tell Me the Story of Jesus," with Mrs. Arthur Ingraham at the piano. Mrs. Gerow then read the seventh chapter of St. Matthew, and a lovely prayer of thanksgiving. Minutes of the last meeting were read and reports given.

The committee appointed in charge of packing and sending the Christmas boxes to the Philippine Islands and the Kentucky mountains is: Mrs. Morgan Coutant, Mrs. Alfred H. Coons, Mrs. Herbert Van Sletten and Mrs. Webb Kniffen. Since the last meeting sick members have been remembered with flowers and cards and many other members with birthday cards. Mrs. Alfred H. Coons had charge of the afternoon study period and spoke on knowing how to deal best with our friends and groups and told the way Jesus did, which gave many helpful suggestions. Mrs. Walter Smith was re-appointed to be in charge of the devotion for the November meeting; Mrs. John Merrill to give the study and Mrs. Alvin Beatty re-appointed for the amusement; for this meeting's amusement Mrs. John Merrill, mother of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Alfred H. Coons, told some amusing incidents which happened on a steamer trip and also one by train when on the way to Missionary fields. During the social hour candy was enjoyed which was contributed by Mrs. Morgan Coutant. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction led by Mrs. Frank Elliott. Those present were: Mrs. Morgan Coutant, Mrs. Abel Quick, Mrs. Harry Gerow, Mrs. Alfred H. Coons, Mrs. John Merrill, Miss Lila Paris, Mrs. Emma Silkworth, Mrs. Minnie Dur-yea, Mrs. Eva Freer, Mrs. Herbert Van Sletten, Mrs. George Bolhn, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Arthur Ingraham and Mrs. Webb Kniffen. The November meeting will be held in the church parlor.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting.

WILD? MISLEADING? FALSE?

Facts Back Judge Culloton's Assertion That Forst Packing Co. Made Offer to the City and That the Offer Was Rejected.

FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR, WHO CLAIMED JUDGE CULLOTON'S CHARGE WAS FALSE, THE FOLLOWING LETTER FROM A FORST COMPANY OFFICIAL IS PRINTED:

October 28, 1937.

Hon. Bernard A. Culloton, Fair Street,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Judge Culloton:

We have received your inquiry regarding our transactions with the Water Board of the City of Kingston, and give you the following information:

Up until the past year our company had always had a flat rate for the use of the water in our plant. Within the past year the Water Board installed a meter and we found that the cost to us for the use of the water was prohibitive. We therefore offered to pay a flat rate to the Water Board as a yearly rental. The Water Board refused to consider any offer of this kind and insisted upon the meter plan.

We had no choice but to dig wells on our own property so that we might have our own water supply. We have completed one well and expect to complete the other within two weeks. Upon the completion of this second well, we intend to discontinue the use of City water.

We trust that this gives you the desired information.

Very truly yours,
JACOB FORST PACKING COMPANY, INC.

DOWNPOUR FLOODS MARYLAND LOWLANDS

Motor busses and automobiles had their runni gear well washed in the Maryland lowlands near Washington, D. C., when a 24-hour downpour swelled streams beyond their banks. Cars, led by a bus, are shown fording a highway at Bladensburg, Md.

BIRTHDAYING IN IRON LUNG

Dorothy Weed (above) was able to celebrate her seventh birthday in a Columbus, O., hospital even though she lay in an iron lung for treatment of infantile paralysis. Hospital attendants gave her a party with a cake and candles, a doll and other presents. Her only comment was, "I don't mind being here on my birthday. I might have last year, though, when I was a little girl."

Weaver Birds of Africa

Rank as Best Architects

Three habitat groups of African birds in Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, include village weaver-birds, birds of Mount Cameroon and Kalahari desert birds.

Weavers, which constitute the largest and most varied bird family of Africa, rank among the best architects of the feathered world, and the village weaver-birds are among the most skillful nest builders of their family. Their globe-shaped nests are woven from strips of grass or palm leaves. "Woven" is not a loosely used term, but an accurate description of the method employed by the birds.

Detailed studies of the nests of another weaver species have revealed that certain definite knots are used to tie the ends of the strips of material—they are not merely tucked in. A firmly woven vertical ring about six inches in diameter is first made by the birds to serve a foundation. The hemispherical chamber for the eggs and young is then added on one side, and the down-turned spout or entrance is added on the other.

The village weaver-birds exemplify a highly gregarious mode of living coupled with a peculiar preference for association with conditions imposed by the existence of socially organized human life. Rather than remain exposed to purely natural conditions involving greater dangers from predatory animals, they build their colonies or "villages" of as many as a hundred nests in trees near the villages of human natives. This habit accounts for the name that has been applied to them. These birds occur over a wide area of western and central Africa.

"Sino" Combined With Japanese "Sino" instead of "Chinese" is combined with Japanese because it is more euphonious. It is derived from "Sina," the Greek and Latin name for an Oriental people mentioned by Ptolemy, who lived in the Second century, A. D., and supposed to have been the Chinese. Some writers, however, prefer "Chino" to "Sino" and write "Chino-Japanese" after the analogy of "Russo-Japanese," "Franco-Prussian," etc.

King Midas Had Donkey Ears

King Midas, although the world's richest man, had donkey's ears. So the legend tells us. And his barber, unable to contain the dreadful secret, whispered it into a hole in the ground. And the reeds that grew on the spot, says Science Service, repeated his whisper and betrayed the secret. All of this, declares Prof. Robert Lehmann-Nitsche of Berlin, is simply effort on the part of the Greeks to explain the fact that this half-fabulous Oriental monarch wore a cap consisting of a horse's or wild ass' scalp with the ears and part of the mane attached. Professor Lehmann-Nitsche has found widespread evidence of the wearing of such ear-ornamented caps in early times. Later, when metal helmets replaced the original hide caps, they were ornamented with erect metal ears. And the horse-hair crests that still adorn the fancy dress helmets of some heavy cavalry corps are a last remnant of the mane that hung from the old horse-scalp caps of ancient hunter-kings.

The National Zoological park at Washington contains about 2,000 animals.

SE FREEMAN ADS!

By L. L. STEVENSON

True Story: The other afternoon, the elevator operator in the West Ninety-seventh street apartment house in which Mrs. Ona Wright lives, remarked to her that there must be some mighty fine bridge players in her club. Interested, Mrs. Wright asked him how he had reached such a conclusion.

"Well," was the reply, "I hear them talking and they all seem to be so good but they have such awful partners."

Suburban Life: A friend who commutes from Brooklyn Manor, out on Long Island, reports an unusual deviation from usual practice. Each morning, a man drives to the station with his wife and the family dog. Nothing out of the ordinary in that since all over the commuting territory it happens every morning.
But it isn't the husband who leaves the auto and goes to the city for a day of toil. The wife is the one who boards the train. Furthermore, instead of kissing her husband goodbye, she kisses the dog and merely waves to her better half.

Urban Life: For some reason which I have been unable to ascertain—it's too much trouble to go down and ask questions—many New Yorkers have taken to kite flying.
For weeks, especially Sunday afternoons, the air over the upper part of Central park has had a large kite population, big kites, little kites, homemade kites, "store" kites, elaborate kites, simple kites, kites of all colors. All the kite flyers aren't kids either, some being gray-headed. When I was a youngster, spring was the proper time for kite flying and if a gray-head had joined us, we would have felt he ought to have that gray head examined.

Time Matches On: John Golden,
in a reminiscent mood the other evening, recalled that when Daly's theater was dismantled, he bid in the old curtain. It was one of the most beautiful in New York and upon its arrival in this country, duty free, had been assessed at $20,000.
Mr. Golden paid $500 for it more or less for sentimental reasons since he had seen it descend on the Man-fields, Ada Behan and others great in the theatrical world of their day.
Sentiment also influenced him in a decision to use it at the Little Theater where he was then producing plays. But he discovered it was only about three quarters the size of the Little's proscenium. Eventually, he gave it to Mr. Dewey, the simplified speller, who years ago started the Lake Placid club, and it is now used in the theater connected with that club. And so pass the grandeurs of yesterday.

Experience: In the Rainbow Room the other evening, a table companion tried to squelch Ray Black's anti-war arguments.
"You're a musician," he sneered.
"What do you know about war?"
Black turned away without repli-
ing. Born and raised in Alsace-Lorraine, he saw his father's house blown to bits during the German invasion, his cousin killed and his beloved music teacher led away to a concentration camp.

They Say: Carl Harte: "The height of something or other would be an attempt to put the six-day bicycle racers on a five-day week." George Griffin: "One of the best places to hold the world's fair is around the waist." George Griffin:
"Have you heard about the horse trainer who climbed the ladder of success step by step?"
... and that's all for today.

Yellow Jackets Drill Tonight

Tonight at 7 o'clock Coach Mac Tiano and his Yellow Jacket warriors will hold a final tune-up for Sunday's game with the Tremont Rams at the Fair Grounds. All Jacket players are urgently requested to attend this practice. It was announced last night that the local semi-pro outfit would begin defense of its Hudson Valley title in November. November 11 was designated for the Waspas to travel to Troy in their initial road attraction of the campaign. Following this game arrangements have been made for the locals to play Hudson and Newburgh.

So far this season the Stingers have played four games, winning two, dropping one and tying in the other. Sunday, the Tremont Rams, one of the best teams that the Millett agency could recommend for the Jackets, will test the Jackets. A good turnout is expected when the battle commences at 2:30.

In two business and blackboard sessions this week, Coach Tiano and Trainer Gus Steigerwald have stressed the important pass plays. In the past two tussles the Jackets have fallen off considerably in this department, and if they have any hopes of annexing their game with the Rams, some improvement must be made. Tonight the aerial method will take up most of the practice.

It is still undecided whether Jimmy Tiano will be ready for action in the Ram contest. However, he will report tonight for the workout.

Aside from Tiano every player is in good physical shape. This week the Waspas will play on an open field and they hope that the fans will continue to support the club in the money column.

London Group Facing Problems

French diplomatic sources as declaring open "indifference" to Mussolini's assertion it was "necessary" to restore Germany to her "place in the African sun." French official circles were represented as relying on French and British friendship to strengthen public opinion against what they called "threatening speeches by dictators."

In London there was an increasing belief that the question of colonies would have to be faced squarely if a new war were to be averted.

Diplomats already in Brussels for consultations on the Chinese-Japanese war, among them the United States delegation, were deeply interested in a report that Japan might be willing to open peace negotiations in Tokyo. A high Japanese source suggested yesterday in Paris that interested powers, particularly the United States, start conversations toward an armistice which, he indicated, the Japanese would like before winter cold begins in certain sections of China.

He broached the idea of peace negotiations being opened simultaneously in Tokyo and Nanking, suggesting that the Brussels conference might give interested powers a mandate to sound out the Japanese and Chinese governments on peace terms.

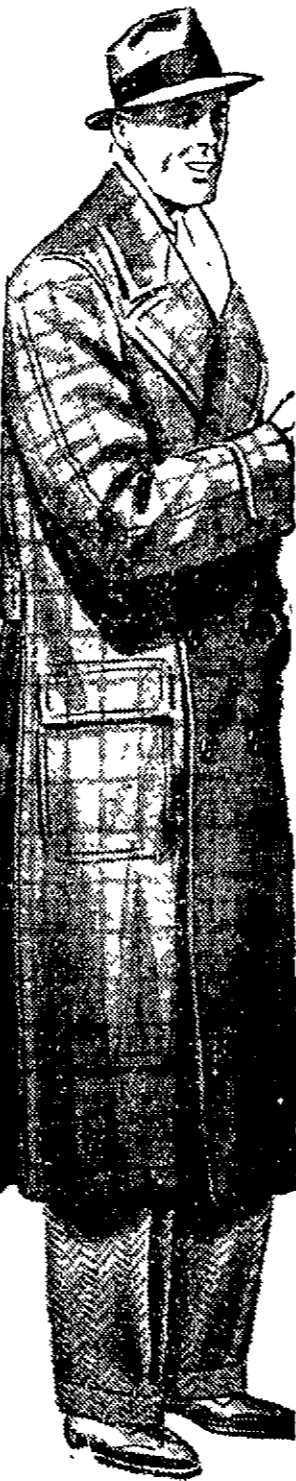

HIGH FALLS MAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

Elwood T. Sherman of High Falls was rendered unconscious about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the car he was driving was in collision with a

The Poor Man's Court

Editorial From Kingston Daily Leader, October 5, 1937.

The voters of the City of Kingston will at this coming election hire a man to preside over the city court. For this important office, so competently and fairly and satisfactorily handled during the past seven years by Judge Bernard A. Culloton, there has been nominated a young man with a splendid legal training and experience; a man quiet and determined in his work; one who is looked upon by lawyers as being an outstanding authority on law. That man is William A. Kaercher.

Mr. Kaercher, who is a member of the law firm of Flanagan & Kaercher, has handled a wealth of legal business here; cases involving the entire scope of legal practice and actual trial work in city court, county court, Supreme Court and the Appellate Division. His fine knowledge of the law has made him eminently successful and he has built up a splendid practice through the exercise of that judgment, knowledge, training and experience that he now offers to the voters of Kingston the handling of their city court.

The city court is important to every local resident. It is not to be looked upon as a political office to be given to either party or any party. If any office deserves a strictly independent vote, that office is the city court—"The poor man's court"—where the average citizen may be assured of not only impartial and fair handling, but a high degree of human understanding. Your City Judge is the man who keeps boys from a life of crime; who keeps homes together; who settles disputes between neighbors—many times without any other action but that which you, as a citizen, institute privately and behind closed doors. The office must have a man of keen judgment, solid and substantial advice, helpful and firm. That type of man is William A. Kaercher.

Mr. Kaercher is no politician. He has not spent his years in back-slapping or handshaking. He is of serious thought. He is every inch a man responsible and reliable and sincerely friendly. He was formerly associated with the late Judge James Jenkins and his relationship with this great lawyer was as pleasant as is his relationship with Chris J. Flanagan, one of the greatest trial lawyers Ulster County has produced.

Mr. Kaercher is a graduate of Brooklyn Law School and of St. Lawrence University where he graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1921. He is also a graduate of the Farmingdale High School of Farmingdale, N. Y. While attending law school he was clerk in the office of Meier Steinbrink, now Justice of the Supreme Court.

William A. Kaercher was admitted to the bar on November 17, 1925. In July, 1927, he formed a partnership with Judge William D. Cunningham under the firm name of Cunningham & Kaercher and this partnership was continued until 1931 when Judge Cunningham retired to become a member of Clark, Close & Davis, of White Plains.

With such a background of guidance: Jenkins, Cunningham, Steinbrink, Flanagan, with an excellent education; with a wealth of experience; with everlasting plugging and hard work; with a unique success in our courts, William A. Kaercher is admirably fitted to serve you well in your important office of Judge of the City Court—"The Poor Man's Court."

Three Inquests in Supreme Court

Three inquests were taken this morning before Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick before the court was adjourned until 10 o'clock November 15, when the Schwarzwaelder vs. Levin breach of contract action will be taken up before the court and jury.

Judge Schirick warned the jurors that at that time the action would be tried and the jurors should come prepared to spend at least a week on the case. In order to expedite the trial he said evening sessions might be held at that time. This case was set down for November 15, as there are a large number of witnesses to be sworn.

No. 51, an action for property damage brought by George H. Smiley & Son, Inc., against William F. Davis, which had previously been announced as settled, was announced as still pending.

Since it comes under the strike-off rule Judge Schirick set it down to follow trial of the Schwarzwaelder action. If not disposed of at this term it will be stricken from the calendar.

The three inquests taken were actions growing out of an automobile accident on May 4, 1935, near Highland, when a car operated by Paul Trodler of Port Ewen was in an accident.

Trodler, accompanied by Henry Huettner and Adam Gause of Kingston, was driving north toward Kingston when he claimed a car of Frank Mule attempted to pass him from behind. The Mule car cut in striking the front of the Trodler car and the Plymouth of Trodler was thrown against a pole and wrecked, he contends.

The three men were injured and the car wrecked. They sued for injuries, loss of time and Mr. Trodler for loss of his car, which he valued at $250.

A. V. & H. O. A. Lent appear for the plaintiffs. The matter was submitted to a jury.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 29—Hope Lodge No. 55, Knights of Pythias, will entertain its Deputy Grand Chancellor, Richard J. Adiches at its regular convention this evening. All members are requested to be present to greet the Deputy.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald K. Munn and daughter, Gloria, who were week-end guests of Mrs. Harry H. Hummel of South Broadway, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ferguson are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, born at the Kingston Hospital Wednesday evening.

Sonny Munson is the proud possessor of a new bicycle which he received for his birthday.

Mrs. William Dempsey is spending a few days in New Jersey.

SCREEN FEATURES AT HIGHLAND THEATRE

As advertised in The Freeman, the Highland Theatre will show, starting Sunday, two features, "Varsity Show," starring Dick Powell and Fred Waring and his Pennsylvaniaans, and Walt Disney's "Academy Award Review." The latter features a cartoon series by the famous screen artist, including "The Three Little Pigs."

Four-H Club members from at least 15 counties are planning to show and to sell their prize lambs at the fifth annual Buffalo Junior lamb show at Buffalo, December 15 and 16.

Yonkers Man Held In Connection with Edmonds Assault

David Wark of Yonkers, who has been known as Stephen Donahue and who was wanted for alleged connection with the serious injury of one William Edmonds, colored, during a brawl at Marlborough Saturday night, was brought from Trenton, N. J., Thursday and is now in the Ulster county jail.

According to the officers Wark surrendered himself to the Trenton police Wednesday, being conscience-stricken under the belief that he had killed Edmonds. He was brought to Ulster county Thursday afternoon by Corporal Mahoney of the B. C. I. and Deputy Vredenburg of the sheriff's office. Arraigned before Justice John Rusk, Jr., of Marlborough, he waived examination and was committed to the county jail to await action of the grand jury. He is charged with assault in the second degree.

Edmonds, who like Wark, is described as a "floater" and who had been engaged in picking apples in the Marlborough section, was injured Saturday night when he was knocked down the steps at "Gus's Place," at Marlborough, following a disturbance which troopers were told started in a back room. Edmonds, whose head had struck the concrete highway, was taken to the Kingston Hospital unconscious and in a serious condition. This morning it was reported at the hospital that he appeared to be much improved.

Donahue left before arrival of the troopers at the scene of the fight Saturday night and a telephone message asking for his apprehension had been broadcast.

Escapes Serious Injury Thursday

Jacob Steeley, water commissioner of the village of Rosendale, had a narrow escape from serious injury Thursday when his car ran into the abandoned D. & H. Canal at Lawrenceville. Mr. Steeley escaped with slight injuries but his car was considerably damaged.

While working on the water system of the village his car had been parked along the canal and when he attempted to crank the car it started forward. He endeavored to apply the brakes and stop it but was unsuccessful. The car plunged over the brink and down a 10 foot embankment to the canal bed where it landed on its top.

The ladies of the Hebrew school will serve a cafeteria supper in the school on Post street on Sunday, afternoon, commencing at 5 o'clock, and the general public is invited.

North Front St. Stores Robbed

The Johnson restaurant at 65 North Front street and the electrical equipment shop of R. B. Thomas at 61 North Front street were broken into last night. It is reported that about $10 was taken from cash registers in the Johnson place. Apparently nothing was taken from the Thomas store.

It was about 7 o'clock this morning that Officer William Hess on duty in that section, found the back door of the Johnson place open. Going around to the front he found that the lock on the front door had been broken, but the intruders had pulled the door to upon leaving. Looking around further he found that a window had been broken in the rear of the Thomas store and nearby that the place showed evidence of having been entered and ransacked.

The owners of the places were notified and Lieut. Simpson of the police department conducted an investigation.

3 British Soldiers Killed In Shanghai

Early until new refugee camps could be established. Thousands of men, women and children pleaded for admittance and British soldiers ignored orders and passed some of the most pathetic.

Fearing that Japanese might use some western zones of the settlement for an attack on Chinese, British troops strengthened their barbed wire barricades.

A Japanese spokesman, in announcing that Japanese forces were preparing an offensive against Chinese lines adjoining the international settlement on the west, declared "extraordinary precautions" would be taken to prevent damage to the international settlement and French concession and danger to foreign residents.

He added that Chinese use of foreign areas adjacent to foreign defense lines indicated a Chinese attempt to involve foreigners in the conflict.

Chinese cabinet members apparently were unperturbed by the Chinese evacuation of the Chapei area of Shanghai Wednesday. They declared at Nanking that China can hold out against Japan five years if necessary.

A SWEET DISPOSITION on the part of the bees or skill in handling the swarm enables Henry Brown of Cape May Courthouse, N. J., to become a walking apiary without fear of being stung. Here he is demonstrating at the international beekeepers' convention in Washington, D. C.

THIS YARD IS MORE THAN THREE FEET from the giraffe's lofty head, so he has to adopt this peculiar posture with legs spread far apart when he wants to pick something up from the ground with his mouth. This long-necked acrobat who seems to be doing his daily setting up exercise is a resident of London's zoo. In fact he might pass for a center on a jungle football team, playing a heads-up game.

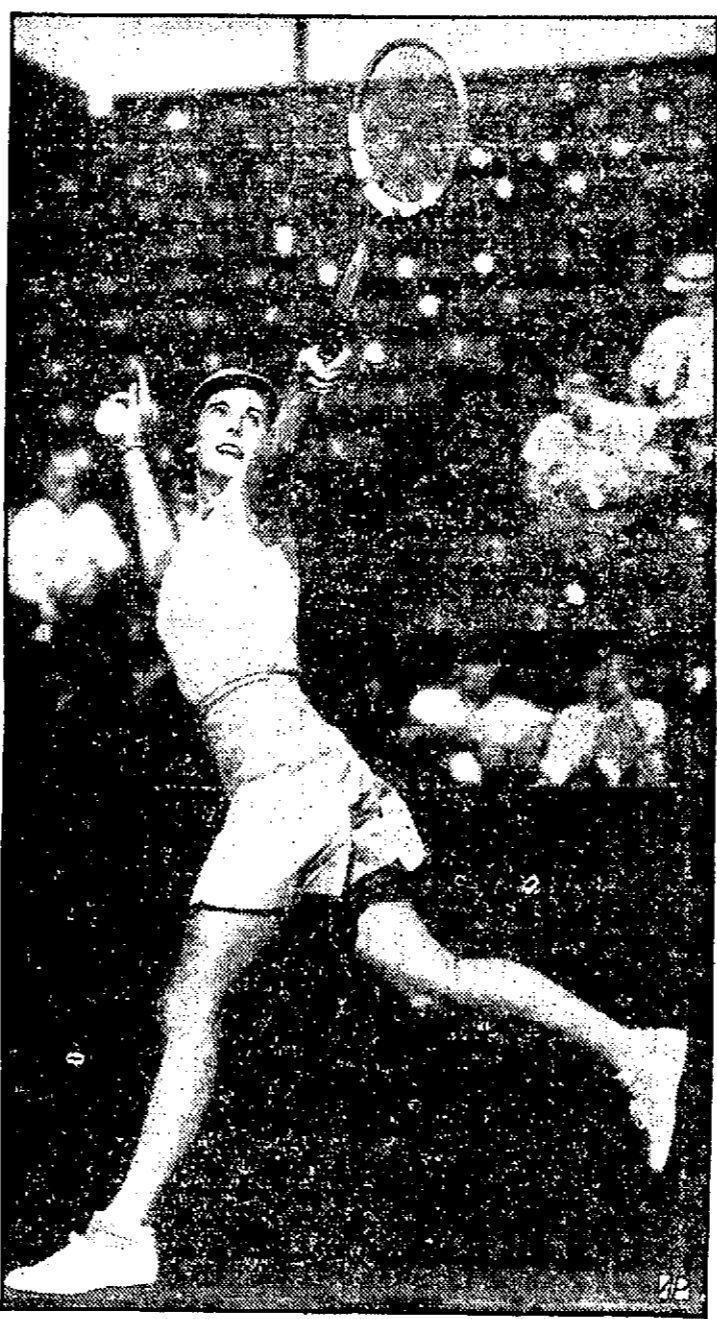

THE SUN ALSO RISES in London, but you'd scarcely guess it from this picture taken during a recent severe fog, one of the worst in years, which disrupted sea, land and street traffic completely. Old Sol may be discerned at the left through a blanket of mist, while in the background is the hazy outline of Big Ben, famed clock on Parliament. In the foreground is the statue of Boadicea, renowned Queen of Britain.

WAR UNFURLS ITS BLACK BANNER across the skies of Shanghai. Here is a view across a section of Chapei, native quarter, as flames broke out during Japanese bombardment. Recently with Chinese defenders retreating, uncontrolled fire swept by a strong wind, roared through the once humanity-packed city, sealing its doom. Hundreds of buildings, many already damaged in the bitter conflict, were reduced to utter ruins.

WHEN DEER ARE NOT DEAR, but too plentiful, it becomes a problem for the government. In Pisgah National forest in North Carolina they multiplied so rapidly it became necessary to declare open season for designated periods. Beginning November 1 the area will be thrown open to 2,600 hunters, each licensed and allowed one deer. Here are some of the large number of fawns feeding at a special trough of "baby food."

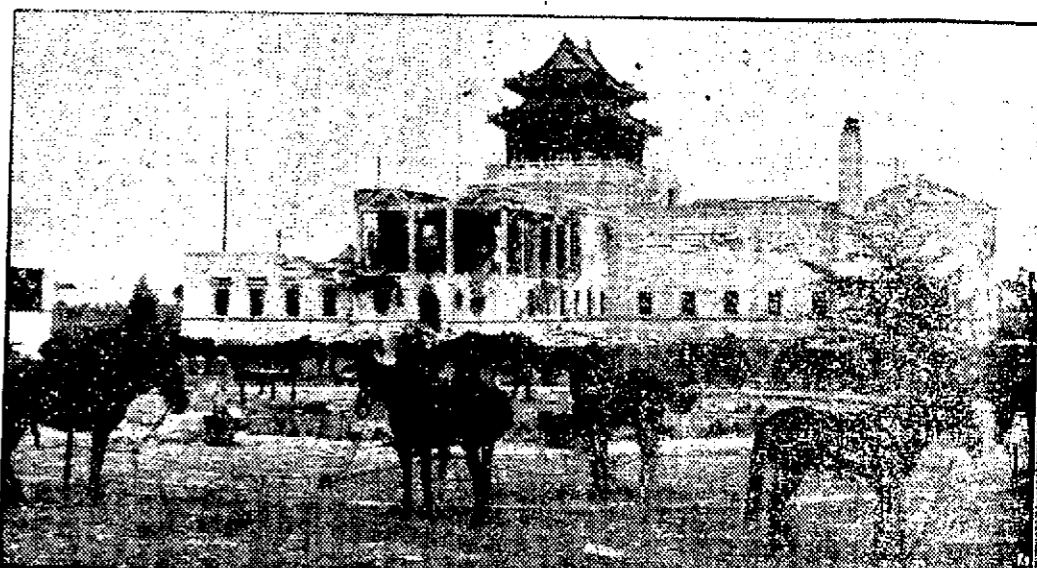

SERVICE WITH A SMILE and her charms on and off the tennis courts have won comely Kay Stammers, English net star and member of 1937's Wightman Cup team, a small role in a Hollywood film. Constance Bennett, who will have a leading role in the picture, aided her in screen tests.

RIDING HIGH, acting the part of a radiator ornament, this pretty miss took part in the opening of the National Automobile Show in New York.

BRINGING WATER TO THE DESERT, Californians will carry a gourd full from Lake Tulainyo, highest in America, atop the Sierras to Bad Water, lowest body of water, in Death Valley. F. W. Meum, descendant of the 49ers, will participate in the ceremony to dedicate a new highway to Mt. Whitney.

CHINA'S CITIES GO BACK TO NATURE as bombs wreck buildings and drive populace to refuge. Here is the Kiangwan civic center, which has been turned into a pasture for Japanese army horses following its being wrecked by shellfire. The building in the background is the museum of the once palatial center.

WITH BRAINS of crafty Coach Ray Morrison whose S.M.U. aerial circus long was the scourge of the southwest, Vanderbilt has heeded the southern football peak.

... AND SPEED aplenty is possessed by the Commodores. Among the fastest is Marvin "Preacher" Franklin, 180-pound end, now playing his second year.

... AND POWER TO SPARE is apparent in the backfield. Joe Agee, 178-pound fullback is tops as a line-plunger and ball carrier and good at passing on a team of many fine passers. Morrison, the master of aerial football, until this year used mainly running plays in his first two years at Vanderbilt.

... A GREAT GRID TEAM IS moulded this year around Captain Carl Hinkle, Jr., one of the collegiate world's best centers. He has led the Nashville gridders this year far down the road to the Southern Conference championship which may be decided when the Commodores clash with Alabama Nov. 25.

... LOOMING LARGE in the line is Jackie Buford "Baby" Ray, six foot, seven inch senior, who tips the scales at 252 pounds. Few plays go past this giant.

... IN THE SOUTH there is none more versatile than 155-pound Jimmy Huggins whose speed and accurate passing may help his team into the Rose Bowl.

New York Jewels Purchased Today

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP).—Nathan Podoloff, general manager of the New Haven arena, announced today he had purchased the franchise of the New York Jewels in the American Professional Basketball League and had transferred the club to this city.

Other clubs in the circuit are Philadelphia Hebrews, Jersey City Colonials, New York Colonials, Brooklyn Visitation, New York Yankees and the original Celtics New York.

Six Teams at 1st Meeting to Plan Industrial Basketball Here

At the basketball meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, the formation of an Industrial League, under the direction of Sidney Lutzn, recreation director for Kingston, six teams were presented.

Those that answered the roll were Hercules, Jewish Youth, Pirates, Y. M. C. A., Upper Merchants, and Freight Aiders. The other teams have signified that they want to join the league, the Central Hudson, Robinson's shirt factory and Fulton's shirt factory.

Discussions at the meeting were relative to the court to be used. Physical Director Henke, of the Y. M. C. A., presented a proposition from his organization, allowing the use of the gymnasium court. It is very likely that this offer will be accepted, Director Lutzn said.

The setup of the league will probably follow the lines of the City Softball League with an Open and Industrial Division, the same as conducted successfully during the summer.

Tuesday, November 1, is the date of the next meeting at which time election of officers will be held, regulations drawn up, and all plans made for an early opening, the second week in November.

Football Forecasts for Games on Saturday Slate

By HERBERT W. BARKER

New York, Oct. 29 (AP).—Unlike that old die-caster, Julius Caesar, this football corner recklessly fails to come to even the customary one-second pause before crossing the weekly prognosticating rubicon.

Minnesota-Notre Dame: The Irish looked a trifle more Rockne-ish in that thrilling fourth-quarter rally against Navy but this is a Gopher of another color. That early-season defeat by Nebraska evidently was just the tonic the Minnesotans needed as witness the slaughter of Michigan subsequently. The choice is Minnesota.

Yale-Dartmouth: Both undefeated, both untied but somehow the edge—spoiled CLINT FRAZEE—seems to lie with the Elis. They have come along a much tougher road than Dartmouth without losing the winning combination. The red, not too emphatic, goes to Yale.

U.C.L.A.-California: When bigger and better 1937 upsets are recorded on the football seismograph, the Pacific Coast Conference will manufacture them. California, however, has escaped thus far and should not be caught napping here California.

Pitt-Carnegie: You can't figure anybody but Pitt here but don't expect the Panthers to post any going to upset the dope but hardly this week Navy.

New York University-Colgate: Colgate's improving last and gets the halcyon over N. Y. U.'s crippled Violets.

Army-Virginia Military: The invaders from Lexington don't look powerful enough to cope with Army.

Dartmouth-College-North Carolina State: Probably close but we'll take Boston College.

Detroit-Villanova: Out of a peacoup fog, Detroit.

Nebraska-Indiana: The long shot special of the week—Indiana (Please omit flowers).

Marquette-Santa Clara: Marquette hasn't shown anything so far to indicate it can crack the bronchos' winning streak. Santa Clara.

Illinois-Michigan: Where's that corn? Illinois.

Wisconsin-Northwestern: This is the Badgers' first serious Big Ten test and it looks here like they'll flunk it. Northwestern.

Purdue-Iowa: The Boilermakers' luck can't all be bad. Purdue.

Arkansas-Texas A & M: In their own halliwick the Razorbacks are exceedingly tough and ready even for so formidable an outfit as the Aggies. Arkansas.

Rice-Auburn: Any team that can score 54 points on Mississippi State and Georgia Tech on successive Saturdays gets this vote. Auburn.

Southern Methodist-Texas: Both have been disappointments so far but the coin says Southern Methodist.

Kansas State-Oklahoma: Another one that looks 50-50 but we'll take State.

Penn State over Syracuse: Rutgers over Lehigh.

Iowa State-Missouri: Looks like Missouri all the way.

Michigan State-Kansas State: Along with the home team, Michigan State.

Stanford-Oregon: Stanford seems to have struck its stride and gets the call here.

Washington State-Southern California: On the run to the nearest bomb-proof shelter, Washington State.

South Carolina-Citadel: That Clemson rout indicated South Carolina is cracking up. Citadel.

Tennessee-Georgia: Tennessee's already lost one home game (to Alabama) and this vote for the Vols is an expression of confidence that it won't happen again.

Tulane-Mississippi State: Not much to choose. Centenary.

Washington & Lee-Duke: No trouble for Duke.

Clemson-Wake Forest: Nor for Clemson.

Davidson-Furman: The devil and the deep blue sea—Furman.

Colorado-Colorado Mines: More touchdown practice for Colorado.

Brigham Young-Western State: This seems to be the spot for Western State's first defeat.

Skipping over the chalklines: Manhattan over Georgetown; Penn State over Syracuse; Rutgers over Lehigh.

Football Twins Fool Coach But Never The Other Team

Baton Rouge, La. (AP).—Louisiana State University's football team has twin brothers in its line this fall but opposing players don't have to worry.

Dick and Jack Gormley are as little alike as a hockey stick and a baseball bat.

The Southeastern Conference champions "We don't room together, double-date or take the same things in school."

"Why Dick's zone with one girl steady since we've been in college. As for me, why I go out with lots of girls."

Both are juniors but Dick, a center, is taking up engineering and Jack physical education.

Jack is taller and heavier. He stands 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 190. Dick weighs two pounds less and has a half-inch of being a foot.

JACK GORMLEY
He Likes Football and Golf

DICK GORMLEY
He Likes Football and Fishing

You never would guess they're twins. In fact, their high school coach at Tyler, Tex., didn't know it until after they graduated.

"We don't even think much alike," says Jack, regular end for

Severino, Emerson And Perry Are the Favorites Tonight

Eleven Star Show Saturday On Western Grid Program

Cornell Tries to Regain Its Form Of Early Season

By DRUM MIDDLETON

New York, Oct. 29 (AP).—All is chaos on the western front. The sector that produces football's fanciest dildoes has an 11-star show on tap for Saturday, a schedule that tops the program for any other section of the nation.

The Big Ten is out in force but what catches the eye is the long awaited clash between Minnesota and Notre Dame, at Minneapolis. Despite tarnished records of the rivals this is still one of the year's biggest scap.

Minnesota couldn't beat the Irish a decade ago in the heyday of Herb Joesling and Bronko Nagurski. The Gophers hope to do better tomorrow against an Irish team that has been good and bad by turns. Notre Dame's greatest asset seems to be the old time fighting spirit so carefully nursed by Rockne. It flared brightly against Navy last week and may overcome the Gophers' slight edge in manpower and technique.

Not quite as loud but just as sharp will be the ring at Champaign, where Michigan and Illinois come together to celebrate Bob Zuppke's 26th anniversary as the Illini leader. Wisconsin and Northwestern and Purdue and Iowa are two other potent pairings and the Big Ten has only begun to fire.

Ohio State vs. Chicago

Ohio State, boasting one of the best records of any Big Ten team, plays one of the conference's poor relations, Chicago. Sturdy Nebraska jumps out of Big Six competition to meet Indiana. The heated Santa Clara invades the midland for a tilt with Marquette, not the pleasantest way of spending a Saturday afternoon in the country, so far as the Avalanche is concerned.

Michigan State, coming out of a scoring famine, meets Kansas. Two unbeaten entries lock horns at Detroit where the Titans entertain Villanova. Iowa State and Missouri and Kansas State and Oklahoma finish off 11 pairings which promise action enough to satisfy the most critical.

The rest of the nation hasn't much to present against this array.

Feathers Battle For Title Tonight

New York, Oct. 29 (AP).—Henry Armstrong and Percy Sarron, a couple of battling buzz-saws, pop out of Mike Jacobs' hat (where boxing's new czar carries all his business) and tangle for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight to settle the featherweight title mess.

Strictly on his recent record of 21 knockouts in 22 trips to the post, the California negro goes into the ring as favorite at odds ranging from 3-1 to 3-2.

Jacobs is confident his debut as successor to the Jimmy Johnson fight regime in the big Eighth avenue sports salon that Tex Rickard put up will be successful to the tune of a $40,000 gate and 16,000 fan-turnout. Sarron has been guaranteed $15,000, or a choice of 231-3 per cent of the take, and Armstrong $7,500, or 162-3 per cent.

Candlen, N. J.—Dean Detton, 210, Salt Lake City, and Ray Steele, 208, Glendale, Calif., drew, one hour.

No Skeet Saturday At Ulster Gun Club

There will be no skeet shooting at the Ulster County Gun Club Saturday afternoon. Although Saturday is the regular weekly shooting day the officials of the club decided against opening the range because of the falling off of attendance due to the opening of the hunting season. This policy will be effect until further notice. When the club members wish to resume the sport they are asked to inform Secretary Roswell Cole of their desire.

Pigeon English as Sworn To in Court

New York.—The clerk in Darwin, Australia, Supreme court, uses this form of oath, according to a report received:

"Now listen. Want you talka true feller and tella big feller boss on top (the judge). Talk loud altogether men in court want to hear you. Talk true all-a-time, not what other black boy bin tellum you. Talk what you savvy clear alonga your own eye, not what you hear alonga your own ear."

Because it seems to be binding on the conscience of aboriginals, this oath has come into general use, the report said.

St. Louis—Danno O'Mahoney, 235, Ireland, threw Ali Baba, 205, Kurdistan, 17:06.

Indications today in boxing circles were that tonight's show, run by the mayor's industrial boxing committee at the municipal auditorium, would draw a capacity house, mostly fans desiring to see how their three favorites will make out against stiff opposition.

The three battlers in whom the enthusiasts of fistiana are couched are Sergeant Charley Perry of West Point, Buddy Emerson of St. Remy and Mario Severino, sensational Schenectady boy, always introduced as "Kingston's adopted son."

Battler Perry is matched with Bradley Lewis, international middleweight title holder, who won his crown in London, a smart boxer and strong hitter for his weight. He tips the beam at about 165 pounds.

He may be middleweight, but he can beat Perry," said George Gairford, Golden Gloves trainer, who handles Lewis.

The Cavalry light heavyweight is the uncrowned king of his division in the Hudson valley, having bumped off all of the 175 pounders, and some heavies, too, with that dynamite right.

Last week Perry stopped Joe Petrucci of New York in a natural slugfest, that warranted the return of the referee this week.

Emerson, known as the blonde lightweight from New York, defeated Emerson last Friday. Although the official verdict pleased most of the customers, there were some who thought that Duddy got a "raw deal." His handlers, especially Jimmy Ralchio, ex-ringer, joined in the squawk.

Albany Officials

Emerson asked for a return bout, and Ralchio insisted that all strange officials be named. Tonight's battle will be governed by Emmett Ryan, Albany referee, and two judges from the Capital City will sit at the ringside.

Nemen hopes to make it two straight.

In his five rounds, Severino will tackle Carmon Fatta, Hearst tournament featherweight champion, who counts on slapping Mario down for his first defeat in Kingston.

Fatta is said to be one of the flashiest 125 pounders training in Stillman's gym.

Kingston fans know all about Severino, so nothing need be said of his hitting power, stamina and colorful ring style.

Another five frame tilt will show Wladimir Peretti, Amsterdam, former Panama canal zone champion, against Johnny Cockfield, New York.

The prelims, for three rounds: Willie White, New York vs. Dunk Bala, Amsterdam.

Frank Eubel, Kingston vs. Johnny DeGraff, New York.

Tiny Townsend, Kingston vs. Vic Rodriguez, Amsterdam.

There has been a good reserved seat sale. Customers depending on rush seats are advised to arrive early. Starting time of the bouts is 9 o'clock.
